TROOPS LOOT IN CANTON, SET CITY ON FIRE

Foreign War Vessels Ready To Act; Conditions In Shanghai Chaotic

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Two American warships, the Sacramento and Pampanga, have been ordered to Canton as the result of the severe fighting there between troops of Dr. Sun Yat Sen and the Canton Merchants' association.

Consular despatches to the state department confirmed press advices of widespread fires in Canton. One American was reported slightly injured.

CANTON, China, Oct. 16.—The entire city of Canton is being terrorized by mercenary troops attached to Sun Yat Sen's south China army, who have got out of control and are on a looting rampage. The greatest chaos prevails.

Severe fighting broke out right in the city streets today when a volunteer corps composed of Canton merchants attempted to check the depredations of the mercenaries.

As a result of this fighting several inflammable Chinese structures caught fire and within a few minutes one of the most thickly populated sections of this city had been swept by flames. Many other sections of Canton are also in flames.

Foreign War Vessels Ready To Protect Lives

PEKING, China, Oct. 16.—No Americans have been harmed in the street fighting that has broken out in Canton between Sun Yat Sen's mercenary troops and the Canton merchants' association forces, the American legation here was advised today. Many stray bullets have fallen in the foreign concession of Canton.

Foreign war vessels are anchored in the Canton river, just off the city, and are in readiness to protect foreign life and property should this be necessary.

Looting Breaks Out In Shanghai Districts

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 16.—Looting on a small scale has broken out in a village in the environs of the Chinese section of Shanghai today when a detachment of Kiangsu troops pounded down several barred doors with rifle butts and began stealing everything in sight, putting the resisting villagers to flight, according to reports received in the international settlement.

The situation in and around Shanghai continues chaotic. In spite of their apparent surrender a few days ago, thousands of defeated Chekiang troops are still pouring into the western outskirts of this city and strongly encircling themselves.

Kiangsu leaders explain they are unwilling to forcibly disarm the Chekiang forces because of the danger to foreign lives and property that might result in the event of a battle near the international settlement.

Fire Loss $5,000,000 Result of Fighting

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Sun Yat Sen's troops have routed volunteers of the Canton merchants' association after sanguinary street fighting in that city, according to Central News despatches from Hong Kong today.

Damage from fires in Canton started from the rifle and cannon fire and by incendiaries totals more than $5,000,000.

Two foreigners were struck by stray bullets in the street fighting. Many Chinese are dead and though Sun's forces have gained the upper hand, the situation in Canton remains critical. Shops and homes were looted after the battle.

BRITISH ARE STIRRED BY ELECTION

Tory Meetings Broken Up by Mobs; Speakers Injured As Audience Fights

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Bitterness over the approaching election is increasing daily and manifesting itself in demonstrations at campaign meetings. Sir Robert Gower, Tory candidate at Hackney, was forced to call off a meeting and was escorted from the hall under guard. Several Tory meetings at Battersea have been broken up.

Twenty were injured, three seriously, when a West Belfast mob attacked Harry Midgely, labor candidate, and hurled stones, until police dispersed the rioters. It is feared that Midgely was seriously injured.

Religion Is Issue
The religious issue has been brought into the campaign by Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express, which recounts at great length the "soviet persecution of Catholic priests" and declares that as a result, Catholics will not support labor candidates.

The Daily Herald charges that the papers controlled by Lord Rothermere are deliberately juggling figures to show that unemployment increased under the labor regime.

Tory and anti-Russian posters are plastered over the countryside, and downtown London displays many labor posters.

Dawes, the senatorial campaign fund investigating committee was told here today at the initial session of its probe into Senator Robert M. La Follette's "slush fund" charges.

The statistics were given by William V. Hodges of Denver, treasurer of the committee, who was able to recall but one specific donation of any amount—that of $25,000 from William Wrigley, jr. Hodges completed his testimony and then recess was taken for lunch.

Democratic Money
The investigating committee upset all predictions today when, a few moments after it convened, it summoned Lincoln Dixon, Democrat in Congress, from Indiana. A member of the Democratic National committee, to tell of the finances of his division of the Democratic organization.

Dixon testified that $32,000 was all the western headquarters had received for its expense to date. The money, he said, was sent by John W. Gerard, national treasurer.

CLAIM LIQUOR RING USED AIRPLANES

Nationwide Rum Scandal as Result of Ten Arrests In Chicago Seen

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—A nationwide liquor scandal and arrests of millionaire bootleggers in all parts of the country was predicted here today as federal prohibition agents announced the collapse of a gigantic airplane rum smuggling ring through ten sensational arrests here.

The rum syndicate, federal officers claim, carried on systematic airplane traffic in liquor and fancy goods between the United States and Cuba, and maintained branches in many cities of the country where the contraband goods was cut, rebottled, relabeled and peddled out in thousand gallon lots to retail distributors. Its deals, the officers say, ran into millions and it was responsible for the making of an entire army of new capitalists.

Arrest Alleged Head

Evidence necessary to make the first ten arrests, the officers revealed, had been gathered for almost a year, two big warehouse raids here furnishing much of the information which led to a revelation of the gigantic scope of the syndicate's operations. Names of prominent persons involved in other cities, particularly in the east, already are in the hands of officials, it is said.

Among those arrested here is P. Davis Pinkussohn, reputed head and chief flyer of the liquor syndicate which officers said brought him returns of over $1,000,000. Pinkussohn maintains a beautiful home in Chicago's gold coast zone, keeps his airplane at the Chicago Aero club and has four expensive automobiles as part of his personal equipment.

Officials say it was he who directed the syndicate's operations and arranged for the transportation by rail of huge shipments of liquor from Florida to all parts of the country.

Structure to Cost $125,000 And Contain Stores and Modern Apartments

Work is soon to start on the $125,000, two-story theatre at the southeast corner of Colorado boulevard and Adams street, announced J. M. Boland, president of the Colorado Boulevard Improvement association, by M. G. Khodigian, owner of the property, and L. L. Bard of Los Angeles, head of the chain of motion picture houses that bears his name.

The forthcoming theatre, which will be Egyptian in style, with a seating capacity of 1,200 people, was financed and will be erected by J. H. Woodward & Co. of Pasadena. It will contain on the ground floor, in addition to the theatre, four stores, while the second floor will include a number of apartments, according to Mr. Boland.

Attractive Structure

The building will front 86 feet on Colorado boulevard and run back 190 feet. It will require six months to complete and when finished will be one of the show places of the city, its builders feel. Mr. Bard, the proprietor of the theatre, has just completed a large picture house at Sunset boulevard and Hillcrest avenue, Los Angeles, Mr. Boland states, and is building one at the present time on Colorado boulevard, Pasadena.

"This will be Mr. Bard's second theatre on Colorado boulevard," says Mr. Boland. "And in recognizing that Colorado boulevard, Pasadena, and Colorado boulevard, Glendale, are really two parts of the same thoroughfare, the builder but grasps a fact that members of the Colorado Boulevard Improvement association have known for a long time."

PRODUCTS OF FARM DROP IN PRICE

Declines Noted In September On Cattle, Sheep, Cotton, Onions and Potatoes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Wholesale prices took a drop in September on many farm products, the department of agriculture announced today.

Among farm products there was substantial reductions in cattle, sheep, cotton, hay, hops, onions and potatoes, and these decreases, notwithstanding in a case a rise in grains, hogs, eggs, hides and wool, caused the farm products price level to recede 1 1/2 per cent from August prices.

Foods Are Higher

In the cloths and clothing group there were large decreases in cotton yarns and certain cotton goods, also raw silk, causing a drop of 1 1/2 per cent in the group level. Fuel, due to decline in gasoline and crude petroleum in the mid-continent fields, decreased one per cent.

Metals likewise decreased, due to lower prices for steel billets, plates and shapes, iron pipe ingot, copper and pig tin. In all other commodities group prices in September averaged to higher than in August, foods being conspicuously high.

BLIMP CREW GOING TO CAPITAL

Men Who Brought Dirigible Across Ocean to Confer With Naval Head

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The United States desires that the German-built dirigible ZR-3 to be christened the Los Angeles, should serve as a symbol of peace and friendship between this country and Germany, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur declared this afternoon at a luncheon given in honor of Dr. Hugo Eckener and other officers of the airship.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 16.—While the crew of the ZR-3 lolled about here today resting after their historic flight from Germany, their officers prepared to go to Washington for a meeting there with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

They will return in time for a dinner Saturday to be given for the ship's crew complement by the Goodyear Zeppelin Co. Save for fifteen who are to stay here for three months, they will return soon to Germany.

Gas Removed

The German crew of the ZR-3 thus far have been unable to understand all the excitement their arrival created. To them it was just part of the day's work. The work of deflating the great gas bag was proceeding today. Supports were attached to the bag to hold it in place as its gas was permitted to flow out.

The ZR-3 will remain limp until it is filled with helium gas. The hydrogen gas being taken from the thirteen cells through valves in the top will not be conserved, but permitted to escape in the air.

To Select Name

Officers of the air station explained that tanking of hydrogen gas under pressure is a dangerous undertaking and, considering the probable impurity of that in the ZR-3 it is hardly worth attempting in this case.

After the dirigible is refilled with helium gas and has made a number of test flights it will be commissioned and christened. A name has not yet been decided upon, although the one already widely favored is "Nokomis," daughter of the moon, to match the name of the sister ship, "Shenandoah," daughter of the stars.

LOS ANGELES GIVES NOISY GREETING TO DIRIGIBLE AS IT MANEUVERS OVER CITY

Huge Craft Moves at Slow Speed in Order, Crowds May Obtain Good View; Pays Visit to Fleet at San Pedro

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—The giant navy dirigible Shenandoah passed over this city during the noon hour today on its journey northward to Camp Lewis. A wild demonstration greeted the Shenandoah as it was sighted making for the heart of Los Angeles.

Sirens, bells, factory whistles, automobile horns and even the staccato report of revolvers as surreptitious shots were fired, added to the cacophony that comprised the greeting of Los Angeles to the huge air cruiser.

The dirigible was delayed in reaching the business section of Los Angeles, owing to orders which moved the battleships of the Pacific fleet out to sea early today.

The dirigible was given the position of the ships, which were just off San Clemente island, just as it reached a point off Long Beach. The air cruiser swung out to sea and circled about the vessels as they were nearing the island. It was sighted returning to the harbor district at 12:10 p. m.

Hardly a building in Los Angeles contained an occupant as the dirigible soared overhead. Elevator operators, janitors, bank employees, men and women engaged in the many ramifications of everyday routine, deserted their posts for the few brief minutes that afforded a glimpse of the air monster.

Crowds In Confusion

Cheers, shouts, waving of handkerchiefs and other signs of greeting added to the confusion on downtown streets as the crowds milled around in awe at the sight of the Shenandoah.

To the officers and men aboard the dirigible, the office buildings in the business sections must have appeared to them as giant ant hills containing busy colonies for not only was every roof covered with teeming humanity, but the sides of the buildings were alive with motion as heads passed in and out over window sills while office workers "got a look" at the ship.

Starts Off Slowly

The first forty miles of the Pacific coast trip was made in 59 minutes, according to the Santa Fe reports. The operator at Encinitas, just forty miles from San Diego, reported the "ship" passing at 10:15 a. m.

The Shenandoah passed over Oceanside at 10:30 o'clock. Averaging forty miles an hour, the air liner passed San Juan Capistrano at 11:03 a. m.

Increases Speed

The quaint Mission town is just seventy miles north of San Diego and is considered the "half way point" for motorists journeying to Los Angeles.

Increasing its speed as it left the coast line to take a direct route to the anchorage of the Pacific fleet, the Shenandoah was sighted by the pilot station at Los Angeles harbor at 11:24 a. m.

Observers made out its glimmering bulk through powerful glasses. The dirigible was just south of Long Beach when the first view was obtained.

The Los Angeles welcome to the dirigible was only typical of that which greeted it as it passed over other towns and cities of Southern California.

Perhaps there was not as much

BOX PARTIES AT THEATRE POPULAR

Big Crowd Grooms Premiere Of 'Country Cousin' by Dobinson Players

The Dobinson Players' opening production of the Booth Tarkington comedy "The Country Cousin" was greeted with enthusiasm last night by a large audience at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre. That these players are rapidly becoming a Glendale institution is attested by the numerous box parties present.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nelson were host and hostess to a party of thirty-six guests and there were in the audience several parties from Los Angeles and other outside points, according to Miss Eva Daniels, business manager of the Dobinson Players.

Cast Is Capable
Many of the parties had come from Glendale restaurants, after dining together, and there breathed in the theatre a cosmopolitan atmosphere that indicates clearly the rapid strides this city is making as a center of the drama.

John Vosburgh, leading man in last night's production, comes from the Majestic stock company in Los Angeles, and more directly from a forty-two weeks' engagement over the Orpheum circuit. His acting is one of the high lights of the play. William Harvey Stephens, another one of the principals in the cast and who did excellent work last night, comes from New York, where he played a successful two years' engagement with Walter Hampden. Gertrude Keller, who had the leading feminine role, again won the hearts of the audience with her sincere work.

Popular Drama
"The Country Cousin" was one of Booth Tarkington's most popular books. Dramatized with the expert aid of Julian Street, it has become one of the leading plays of the generation. Not to see this fine drama is to miss some of the essential flavor of America. And to see it as produced by the Dobinson Players is to see it in capable hands indeed.

The play will be given tonight, Friday and Saturday nights at 8:15 o'clock with a 2:30 o'clock Saturday matinee. Miss Daniels states, and will be presented again on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

OPENING OF BOULEVARD ASSURED

Deeds for Uniform Widening Of New Thoroughfare Are Secured

With all deeds secured for the opening up and widening of Glendale boulevard to a uniform width of forty feet on the north side of the street from Grand View avenue to Justin avenue, property owners on Glendale boulevard are more enthusiastic than ever in their plans for developing a splendid boulevard.

From Justin avenue to Alameda avenue seventy-six deeds were required. To get all these deeds seemed a Herculean task and many were skeptical about the undertaking and predicted that condemnation proceedings would have to be instituted. However, due to the efficient work of W. J. McIntyre, right-of-way man in the city engineer's office, and E. D. Knuchell, the task was begun four weeks ago and to date fifty-eight deeds have been secured.

It is expected that within a few weeks the remaining eighteen will be in hand. One reason for the delay is that many of the property owners have been on vacations, while others reside out of town.

It is reported that an agreement has been reached on a uniform grade for the stretch from Grand View to Alameda avenue which contemplates the lowering of the Pacific Electric tracks, so that, instead of having two separate streets with different grades, there will be one street with but one grade.

Pupils attaining a grade standard shall receive honorable mention. The pupil in each grade spelling the highest number of words correctly will be presented with a dictionary.

All winners receiving dictionaries who desire, shall be brought together for an old-fashioned "spell-down." The final winner in each group will receive a grand prize awarded by the P.-T. A.

"These contests are part of an effort being made by the Los Angeles school system to raise a generation of better spellers," says Miss Shane, "for it is lamentably true that a man or woman may have completed an irreparable education and yet go through the world a poor speller."

PLANS SQUAD TO PROTECT DEALERS

Chief Fraser to Have Police Inspect Locks on All Stores in City

The nucleus of a crime prevention squad is being organized by Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department, in an effort to make the public co-operate in rendering it more difficult for criminals to function in this city.

It will be the duty of this squad to make periodic inspections of the establishments of Glendale merchants, testing the locks on doors and windows and ascertaining that no ladders or other conveniences of thieves are left outside the premises.

Find Doors Open
This idea, which was brought back by Chief Fraser from the annual convention of the Peace Officers' association of California, assembled at Catalina island the last two days in September, has been brought to the fore by the increasing number of unlocked doors and windows reported by patrolmen of his force.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS TO AID

Co-operation of Faculty Is Assured P.-T. A. Members At First Meeting

That teachers of the Glendale Union high school are heartily in co-operation with the Parent-Teacher association, was seen in the announcement made yesterday afternoon at the first P.-T. A. meeting of the year at the Harvard high school by Mrs. George U. Moyle, vice principal, who announced that in the school faculty there is a P.-T. A. committee, and plans are in operation for having at each P.-T. A. meeting a faculty member or members representing each department of the school curriculum. This she stated will afford parents an opportunity to confer with the teachers on departmental problems pertaining to their children's work.

Business Session
Mrs. W. R. Wichert, president, presided over the meeting, attended by 100 school patrons. An informal social half hour in the cafeteria preceded the meeting and program in the auditorium. Announcements of various kinds were made. For the program there was a set-aside period arranged by Mrs. Wichert; Dorothy Burch and Lila Bowers of the music department gave a piano duo and Mrs. A. B. Bonham gave vocal solos.

The company was greatly interested in the memorial picture to the late Mrs. Dora L. Gibson. The picture was purchased and displayed last year, but the memorial plate has just been affixed and the picture is now to be hung in the music room at the Broadway high school.

Comment

By GIL A. COWAN

Plans for a water district which will comprise the principal cities of Southern California concern Glendale. It is proposed to bring the Colorado river supply, as necessary, to the great metropolitan area.

This program will in no way jeopardize the irrigation of the Palo Verde, Imperial or Yuma valleys. It will not interfere with the development of power. It will simply use the Colorado's flood to its utmost, in the opinion of the writer.

There is no reason why Glendale civic bodies should not become interested in this movement, for, while there is sufficient water supply here for a city of more than 100,000, there is no need to limit the growth because of local conditions.

From registration figures made public in Los Angeles today there is every indication of a great Republican victory being scored in the southland at the presidential election November 4, provided the duly qualified electors go to the polls and vote.

Of the total 656,073 registered—an increase of about 13 per cent over last August—there are 391,056 Republicans, 129,393 Democrats and 104,764 who declined to state their affiliation. The Prohibitionists have 11,920 registered and the Socialists 8933.

As an observer the writer would estimate no less than 400,000 potential Coolidge votes. But, allowing for a 25 per cent defection toward La Follette in the Republican and Democratic ranks and supposing that all others registered favored the independent candidate running on the Socialist ticket, he would still lack 50,000 votes, in round numbers, needed to overcome the Coolidge cad.

Reversing the situation and supposing that 25 per cent of the Democratic and unaffiliated voters swung to Coolidge, this county would give the president a majority of 100,000 potential votes over the combined totals of Davis and La Follette.

A mathematical prediction of November 4 balloting in Los Angeles county would show Coolidge a winner over the Wisconsin senator by 77,000 to 125,000, depending entirely on "the number who exercise their franchise."

Predictions, like the weather reports, are subject to change, and what is true today in a political campaign may be changed tomorrow. After a writer has covered political subjects, estimated crowds, analyzed markets, written oil, mining and real estate promotion articles he recognizes that one man's guess is as good as another's.

And that's that.

This special number has been in process of preparation for the past month, and persons who have not been at their places of business when Mr. Rink, the compiler of this development number, called, should phone Glendale 4000, and this gentleman or another representative of The Evening News will visit them for advertising and publicity.

TERMINUS IS PROMISED TO CITY

Local Railroad Men Work To Make Glendale Point Of 'Destination'

Glendale may soon be an "optional destination" or railroad terminus, if efforts of C. A. Redmond, local passenger agent of the Union Pacific, Dr. H. R. Harrower, and Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, are rewarded.

Heretofore there has been only four Southern California points to which eastern passengers could buy through tickets or check baggage. This was called to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce by Dr. Harrower, who could not check baggage through to Glendale from New York. The matter was taken up with the railroad officials and the following letter was received by Mr. Wood from Passenger Agent Redmond:

"Dear Mr. Wood:—I am obliged to you for your letter of October 8, enclosing copy of Dr. Harrower's letter relative to baggage checking privileges accorded passengers coming to Glendale. We

TO ILLUSTRATE

(The following is a verbatim clipping from the Los Angeles Evening Express of October 8):

One of the many terrible daily lessons that give further proof to the following statement

Gas Fumes Kill Man, Overcome Roommate

Fumes from a gas heater in a bathroom where there was insufficient ventilation are believed to have caused the death of William H. Jackson and the near suffocation of R. H. Gary, his roommate, yesterday. They lived at 1604 West Pico street.

Gary said he went into the bathroom to take a bath and was overcome by the fumes. The next thing he knew he was lying on a bed in the adjacent room. Jackson was found dead on the bathroom floor with the door locked and the heater burning.

Sad incidents of this description are every-day occurrences and are for warnings to yourself, wife and children

Daily Greeting To News Readers

Hearts, more or less, I suppose, most of us have, but we keep them so close-cased and padlocked—we wear an outside so hard or dry—that little or none of the love that may be within escapes to gladden those around us. And so life passes without any of the sweetening to society that comes when affection is not only felt but expressed.—J. C. Shairp.

THE CIVIC CENTER QUESTION

Glendale is sorely in need of two things: a rest park centrally located and a new city hall. If the bond issue for a civic center carries on November 4, both will be provided for. If it does not, the question of a city hall will have to be taken up in some other form at once. No one who has the slightest knowledge of conditions questions the need of a new city hall. The building that was proportionate to the city's business when Glendale had a population of 3000 or 4000, and when only a score were needed to do the work, is entirely inadequate now that we are a city of some 54,000 with perhaps 300 or more employed to carry on the city's business. The present method is not only inconvenient but expensive, for, with the different offices so crowded and scattered in different buildings, the proper co-ordination in departments and co-operation between departments are impossible.

As for a centrally located park, the argument that Griffith park is near to Glendale is no argument. Griffith park is a wonderful, mammoth, natural playground which Glendale is fortunate to have at her door for picnics and outings, but it cannot take the place of a rest park. Patterson park, also answers its purpose splendidly, but it is not convenient for shoppers or casual visitors.

The proposed location for a central park lies on Colorado, a section of the foothill boulevard, which is traveled by thousands of motorists daily. If the park were not to be used at all but just to be seen by those who are passing, such a breathing spot in this central location on Colorado street would be worth to the city more than it will cost. As a means of publicity a real forward-looking city does not give all its attention to utilitarian projects and neither does it neglect the aesthetic side of life entirely.

Visitors who come by motor or trolley to see Glendale, and perhaps consider buying a home here, and shoppers who come from other cities or from the outlying portions of Glendale, would appreciate such a place to rest a little while. As it is now, tourists feel that they must walk about the streets or stand on the corners, as many hesitate to go into the stores and offices unless they make purchases or have business to transact.

As for the old high school buildings, it is said by those who are familiar with what is required, that they could be remodeled for a comparatively small sum to answer the needs of the city for several years. Then, when the city's finances would permit, new and more modern buildings could take their places.

A strong argument in favor of this bond issue is that the money will go to the high school board to be used for school purposes. If the people fail to sanction the purchase of this property by the city, they will have to vote bonds in like sum for school improvements sooner or later. So the civic center bonds will do double duty.

REALTY BOARD OF GREAT SERVICE

With the formation of a Lions' club there is scarcely any organization but what is represented in Glendale. All of the national clubs have large memberships here, and wide-awake members, and the things that these organizations have done for Glendale could not be told in one issue of any newspaper.

But, the honors that have come to Glendale through the realty dealers in state convention in Pasadena last week, bring to mind very forcibly what this bunch of men has done for Glendale, both as individuals and members of the realty board. Glendale members were given considerable prestige among dealers from all sections of the state, and the good work they began in Sacramento last year was continued.

Notable among the events of the convention that brought Glendale to the fore was the winning of the achievement trophy as the board that had achieved the greatest results for its city the past year. Quite an achievement also was keeping the story of these achievements within a thousand words, accomplished by Secretary J. W. Pearson. Then the address of President Peter Hanson in the contest on "My Home Town" tied for second place. The board won the plaque given by the California Real Estate Magazine for the best board display advertising in the state. Charles B. Guthrie was elected one of the directors of the state organization. W. F. McPherson and Earl Shook won first place in state tennis match; E. G. Warren first place in state horseshoe pitching contest; W. B. Dickinson first place in golf tournament for low gross score, and D. W. Hepburn first place in golf tournament for low net score.

No profession or business has had more to do with Glendale's progress than the realty board. From the very nature of their work, the realty men have added greatly to our area, our population and our wealth. In perfecting such a peppy organization they have widely advertised themselves and Glendale at the state and national conventions as well as at every opportunity that has been presented. They have taken a leading part in, and contributed generously to local affairs. The Glendale Realty Board is a magnet that is drawing a great amount of business and population, as well as interest and attention to Glendale.

ADVERTISING FIREARMS

The decision of the Loyal Order of Moose in convention in Indianapolis recently to bar all advertisements for firearms from the columns of the official publication of the order is one that deserves commendation. Guns are all too common among those who have no real use for them, and while it may give one a feeling of security to have a loaded revolver under the pillow or in the bureau drawer to use against an intruder, this weapon has often been found all too convenient in a family quarrel.

There have been times when the carrying of a loaded gun by an ordinary citizen has proved wise, but in the case of a hold-up the victim who has a weapon rarely has an opportunity to draw it, and there have been too many cases where it has been unwise. A loaded revolver is a menace to life under any and all conditions.

Dealers should not be allowed to sell firearms promiscuously. They should be required to obtain certain, vital information from purchasers and keep accurate records of sales.

In most cities, the quiet zone school should not be confined to the vicinity of hospitals.

Speaking of hair, people are dying this year who never dyed before.

THAT OLD STORY—BUT IN REVERSE ENGLISH!

Strikes

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Strikes are pure barbarism. They are an application of force. Not force on the guilty party, but force applied to a third party who has nothing to do with the case.

When a man has a financial difference with his neighbor he does not try to get payment by being offensive to his neighbor's wife and children or puncturing the tires of the village physician's automobile or going around shooting up the butcher and baker who have nothing to do with the matter. But when Labor and Capital fall out they each begin to abuse the public and hope by this means to secure their rights.

Every other kind of dispute between men and groups is taken before a court of law. The question is examined according to well known rules of evidence and the only force in the case is used to compel acquiescence and results.

But in disputes between employer and employee it is supposed to be the thing to do to abuse the public. Of course that may be the only means of bringing the condition of the laborer home to us and making us realize what long hours and low wages are, but it is a poor means.

It shows that so far the business world has not found itself and the rule of law and order is not complete in business. For, when it is complete, a man who is aggrieved can take his grievance before the proper tribunal and have it settled. He is not compelled to take his pistol and run amuck through the streets.

There was a recent strike at Covent Garden in London. When it was finally settled the workmen went back at about the same rates they had been getting. The curious spectacle was presented of a strike throwing thousands out of employment taking place at the same time that Great Britain is complaining of its unemployed classes.

If the workers want the sympathy of the general public they will have to get it in some other way than by the use of force.

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1864
When the stupendous years of Lincoln's first administration—dim with the dust of battle and fraught with the destinies of mankind—drew to an end many Republican leaders were strongly opposed to his re-nomination. Such men as Salmon P. Chase, Horace Greeley and Henry Winter Davis, a staunch union man high in the councils of the party, believed that the re-nomination of Lincoln meant defeat. Even Charles Sumner was doubtful. Lincoln himself was extremely doubtful of being re-nominated. But when the choosing of convention delegates began he showed a strength which neither he nor his party leaders had suspected. The convention met in Baltimore in June of 1864 and Lincoln was nominated unanimously. Andrew Johnson of Tennessee, then military governor of that state was nominated for vice-president. This nomination was one of fancied expediency. Johnson was a "war Democrat". His nomination would bring the "war Democrats" into the Republican fold. He was a southerner and to nominate for vice-president a man from a state recently in rebellion and one in which he had, formerly held so many high offices, would be, to those nations inclined to recognize the Confederacy, a demonstration of the success of the Federal government in re-establishing its sway.

Lincoln's enemies in his own party had, in an effort to influence the action of the regular convention, called a "mass convention" in May and nominated Fremont for president and John Cochrane of New York for vice-president. These nominations fell flat—the bombshell was a "dud" and the candidates subsequently withdrew and urged Lincoln's re-election. The Democratic convention, meeting in Chicago in August, nominated General McClellan, then living quietly in his New Jersey home, for president and George H. Pendleton of Ohio for vice-president. This convention adopted a platform declaring the war a failure and demanding an immediate cessation of hostilities; a sentiment from which McClellan dissented in his letter of acceptance. Lincoln was so convinced that he would not be re-elected that, as late as August, he put in writing, and handed to Secretary Wells in a sealed envelope, a statement in which he said, "It seems extremely probable that this administration will not be re-elected." But on election day it was re-elected overwhelmingly. Of the popular vote Lincoln received 2,213,665 to McClellan's 1,802,237 and of the electoral vote Lincoln had 212 to 21 for McClellan.

The housing problem is so acute in Vienna that a judge there has suspended sentence in the cases of thousands of divorcees who remained in their former husbands' quarters, in some cases after they had remarried. locked in the establishments of merchants along the main streets," he says, "and this even includes banks and large stores that have fortunes in merchandise on their shelves. It cannot be too strongly impressed on the merchants of this city that they must co-operate with the police department if they want protection.

Locks Essential
"Up-to-date locks on doors and windows are a necessity. Ladders and other means of easy access to roofs should be cleared away from all premises, both in the business and residential districts. It is up to the public to do everything possible to help the police department cope with the crime situation.

"While it is not possible to organize a special crime prevention squad in Glendale at this time, as the chiefs decided at the convention, I am nevertheless determined to do everything in my power to create the nucleus of such a squad, and local merchants may anticipate inspections at any time from now on."

have the matter up for adjustment, and I am sure that out of Dr. Harrower's constructive criticism much good will result.

"The situation is this: From all points in the East one can only buy round-trip tickets to four points in Southern California, viz: Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Barbara and Long Beach. They are not on sale to other points for reasons you can obviously see. When passengers desire to check baggage to Glendale, Venice or other points, the selling agency sells him what is called an 'extension ticket,' which reads 'Los Angeles to Glendale.' This enables the passenger to make through arrangements to this or other points. In Dr. Harrower's case, the selling ticket agent in New York evidently did not know how to handle the matter.

"Now, to overcome this, we are proposing to the various lines that Glendale be published as an 'optional destination,' which means that on all tickets from Los Angeles, round trip, bearing Los Angeles as the destination, that it will also be good to and from Glendale, either for baggage or the passenger's trip, at his option, without extra endorsement to that effect. I am working for that, and hope to accomplish it, in which event it will, I hope, obviate further such complaints, although there is, of course, the possibility that others will come in contact with ticket sellers from time to time not posted. It is the first such complaint we have ever had, and the same condition also applies to other lines serving Glendale, so that it is not a common one with us."

REALTY BOARD IN PRAISE OF NEWS

Peter Hanson Says Evening Paper Was Big Help to Pasadena Meeting

Much credit was given The Glendale Evening News by Peter Hanson, chairman of the Glendale Realty board, at the luncheon yesterday noon at the Alley Inn, for the part it has played in the development of the city.

Mr. Hanson paid a glowing tribute to newspapers and said that during the course of a conversation with Glenn Willaman, secretary of the State Association of Realty boards, the latter declared that a check of California papers received by his office showed Glendale received more publicity on real estate matters in its papers than any other city in the state.

Mr. Hanson showed a scrapbook he has kept during the past year of the publicity given the board and it was well filled with clippings from The Evening News.

A unanimous vote of thanks was given The Evening News for its part in boosting the realty board work and for the part it played in the success of the Glendale members at the recent state convention in Pasadena.

Soloist

ILYA BRONSON, cellist, who will appear tomorrow night at the high school with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra.

In answer to the hundreds of inquiries as to the nature of the program to be offered tomorrow night at the Broadway High school auditorium by the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, Principal George U. Moyle of the Glendale Union High school is able to announce that Walter Henry Rothwell, director of this famous musical aggregation, has selected for a symphonic composition Schubert's "Symphony No. 8 in B Minor," the popular unfinished symphony, regarded as one of the finest examples of the great composer's work.

This will be followed by Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite," which in the short space of twenty-five minutes used in its performance runs the musical gamut, opening with a miniature overture, much in the manner of Mozart, followed by a group of seven characteristic dances and closing with the "Waltz of the Flowers," richer in color than the preceding parts of the suite and with the warm tones of horns setting the keynote of a mood more emotional than those dominating the rest of the piece.

Next in order come Plerne's "Vigil of the Guardian Angel" and "Scene Religieuse-Innocence," a beautiful cello solo, played by Ilya Bronson, from Massenet's suite, "Les Erinnyes." The program closes with the most colossal of Tchaikovsky's many compositions, the "Overture Solemnelle, Year 1812," depicting musically the story of Napoleon's advance into Russia, and his crushing defeat at Borodino, a fitting conclusion, feels Mr. Moyle, for a program that marks an epoch in the cultural advance of Glendale.

LUCKY STRIKE

IT'S TOASTED

Cleanliness and Care in Manufacture

Every Lucky Strike factory is a model of sanitation. Read how Alfred W. McCann, the noted food expert describes one of our factories: "White walls and ceilings, floors as clean as freshly chiseled marble, cutting machines and wrapping machines that take away from the human hand all detail and leave nothing to the human supervision but the watchfulness of trained eyes."

Facts About Taxes on Cigarettes

WE call particular attention to the statements made in the advertisement adjoining this editorial column.

This advertisement, the purpose of which is to win new friends for Lucky Strike cigarettes, incidentally emphasizes the matter of high taxes on cigarettes.

To those who are intimate with such matters there is, of course, no surprising statement made. To the general public, though, we believe it will be surprising to learn that nearly half of what they pay for cigarettes goes to the government for taxes.

The internal revenue stamp on a package of twenty Lucky Strike cigarettes costs you six cents. On a tin of one hundred the revenue stamp costs you thirty cents.

So nearly fifty cents out of every dollar you spend for cigarettes is spent by you for taxes.

This is certainly the heaviest tax on an article of daily and universal consumption.

The Tobacco Industry and Taxes

The aggregate tax paid by the tobacco business is with one exception, income taxes, the largest item of internal revenue the federal government receives. Last (fiscal) year it amounted to $309,014,050.84.

Of this enormous amount of money the cigarette industry paid $182,715,735.93, or nearly two-thirds of the total tax paid by the entire tobacco business.

The immediately important point of the foregoing is the following: We believe you will appreciate that when nearly fifty cents of every dollar paid by you for cigarettes goes to the government, you must receive in cigarettes a value in return for your money that is rarely given in any commodity.

That the public generally appreciates this great value is shown by the enormous increase in the consumption of cigarettes.

Our reasons for this tax free offer

We know this offer induces men to try Lucky Strikes—it "Wins New Friends."

We know that a large percentage of those who get acquainted with Lucky Strikes adopt them.

This isn't philanthropy nor propaganda—just good business, as you'll agree.

The offer is limited. We cannot afford to keep it up.

We make it sensationally generous so as to attract attention.

We are not giving money away for the offer accomplishes its purposes: Lucky Strike "Wins New Friends." Our volume increases.

Super-quality

It is only by immense volume that we can produce such an aristocratic cigarette as Lucky Strike at such a democratic price.

Its quality is supreme because it has that costly, extra process, toasting, which improves the flavor and adds to the taste of even the finest tobaccos that are used in Lucky Strikes.

We urge you to participate in this offer—we want you to get acquainted with Lucky Strikes.

We know a trial will make you a permanent customer of ours.

Huge Navy Dirigible Visits Fleet at San Pedro and L.A. Business Section noise emanating from the smaller communities, but the enthusiasm was pitched just as high.

In journeying to the city the Shenandoah was slightly delayed while it went out to "pass in review" over the battleships of the Pacific fleet.

The entire complement of naval vessels was ordered to sea early today to participate in maneuvers on the drill grounds off San Clemente island.

The ships of the fleet were midway on their journey when the dirigible hove in sight. As it passed over the stately floating forts it dipped its nose in salute.

The fleet replied by lusty cheers from members of the crews, it being decided too dangerous to attempt a gun salute to the dirigible.

Whistle Blasts

Turning, the Shenandoah made for Los Angeles harbor and the city proper. In passing over the waterfront every steamer in the port let loose whistle blasts that could be heard for miles.

After circling the business districts of the city the Shenandoah headed back for the ocean, the navigators apparently intent on sailing over the numerous beach resorts west of Los Angeles.

In passing over the various communities the airship was slowed down to an almost negligible speed in order that those below might obtain an excellent view of it.

Its propellers were barely turning over and Commander Lansdowne had all five engines working at slow speed in order to maintain his steerageway. An escort of nine airplanes circled about the Shenandoah as it passed over the city.

Ship Leaves San Diego On Its Journey Northward

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—Glinting in the partial sunlight like a huge silver bobbin, the navy dirigible Shenandoah shoved off from its mooring mast on North island at 9:16 a. m. today for Camp Lewis, Wash., final western goal on its maiden trans-continental flight. The Shenandoah arrived here early last Saturday and had been delayed for repair of damage sustained on the Fort Worth-San Diego hop and a stop in the northwest.

The officers of the big cruiser had expected to get under way about two hours earlier, but a light blanket of fog retarded the solar heating of the helium gas. The sun's rays began to fall intermittently on the ship at 8 o'clock, and Commander Lansdowne turned his craft broadside to the sun, the more rapidly to absorb heat, expand the gas and increase the dirigible's buoyancy.

Crowd Cheers

Several thousand persons, kept at a safe distance from the mooring mast by guards, were on hand when the giant air liner departed for the trip north. As the Shenandoah's motors whirled and it slowly pulled away from her "dock," the crowd burst into cheering and waving of handkerchiefs.

"This is a trial flight," Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics, told newspapermen before going aboard the Shenandoah. "We wanted to test the newly erected mooring masts at Fort Worth, here and at Camp Lewis. The ones at Fort Worth and here are satisfactory in every sense."

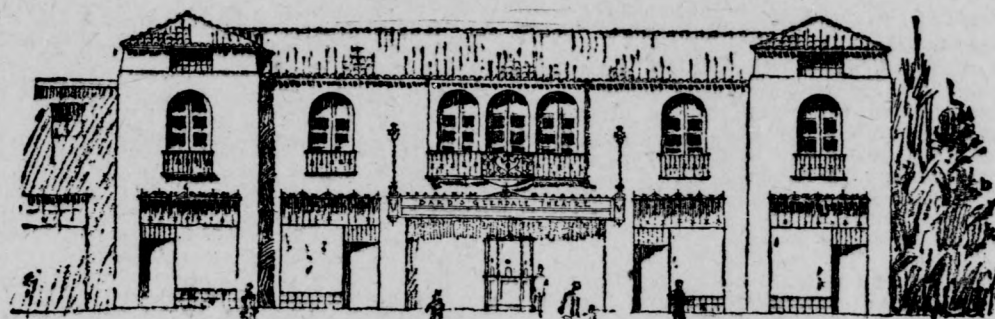

Tentative Course

"We hope to pass over San Francisco and the Golden Gate some time late today and reach Camp Lewis tomorrow evening. We will endeavor to maintain a speed of between 50 and 60 miles per hour on the trip north. The flight to Camp Lewis will probably require from 34 to 37 hours."

The tentative course of the Shenandoah to San Francisco will be along the ocean coast direct to Los Angeles, where it is expected to arrive in a little over two hours after leaving here. After passing over Los Angeles, it will circle over San Pedro and then head for Pasadena, thence northward to Santa Barbara and

Weather Conditions Good For Big Dirigible's Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Almost ideal weather conditions for the flight of the dirigible Shenandoah from San Diego to Camp Lewis, Wash., are in prospect today, according to officials of the San Francisco weather bureau. The storm that threatened to grip the Pacific coast yesterday has temporarily subsided, they said.

"Aside from a slight cloudiness along the coast generally the Shenandoah could hardly have a more favorable day for her voyage," G. H. Wilson, director of the bureau, told International News Service.

There is no strong wind at any point along the route to be traversed by the dirigible, Mr. Wilson declared, and no rain is falling. Prospects are that these favorable conditions will last at least throughout today, he said.

Grain Future Trading Extends Into Billions

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Trade in grain futures on all exchanges of the country totaled 2,119,228,000 bushels during September, of which 1,825,578,000 bushels were handled on the Chicago Board of Trade. The volume of business on the Chicago exchange was 15 per cent below that of the previous month, although nearly double that of September, 1923. Duluth board of trade with 60,128,000 bushels of grain handled showed an increase of 137 per cent over August, while the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce with 119,429,000 bushels involved in transactions showed a gain of 33 per cent. Trade in wheat on all exchanges for the month amounted to 1,068,376,000 bushels, in corn to 694,813,000 bushels, in oats 195,278,000 bushels, in rye 148,262,000 bushels, in barley 5,764,000 bushels and in flax 6,734,000 bushels.

Mighty fine sentiments you express, and they are heartily appreciated. I agree with you that it seemed doubtful who would get it. Indeed, I placed myself third and Glendale first. I was captivated with the descriptions and praises uttered by the successive speakers and came away prouder than ever of my residence in our Golden state. I believe that we should suggest cutting down in the number of speeches—say that twelve be allowed each year and the cities alternate. "Now, Pete, I want you to try that trophy again next year. MOONLIGHT NIGHTS ARE FOUND BEST TIME TO DRIVE

AUTOMOBILE FUTURE IS BRIGHT

Mistakes of Past Year Are Rectified, General Motors Executive States

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—"If I did not have the utmost confidence that there was a great future still before the automobile industry, I would have got out of it." That was the answer of Charles S. Mott, vice-president of the General Motors corporation, to a question by the writer as to the situation facing the motor world.

The statement had nothing to do with Mr. Mott's personal bread and butter, for not only is he one of the largest stockholders of his company, but he is heavily interested in other manufacturing activities. He made it plain that he could be content only by connection with an industry which involved development of the country and its resources, as well as the company involved.

Errors Rectified
"The rushing of production ahead of demand which took place earlier in the year," Mr. Mott continued, "undoubtedly was a mistake. But the industry has recovered from that error in a remarkable way. Those excess stocks have been worked off gradually and satisfactorily and, what is more remarkable, without the necessity of cutting prices with attendant losses. In less than a month, so far as our corporation is concerned, those excess stocks will have been cleared off and we will then go ahead with production speeded up to a basis commensurate with demand."

Mr. Mott indicated that he considered the situation of the country, and that the increased demand which has made itself manifest recently would be continued.

Indications Good
"For the quantity producers," he said, "there is a point of production below which profits cease and above which they increase. It is impossible to forecast the future, but I see nothing in the situation at present which would tend to reduce the volume of output below the profit point the remainder of this year or the first of next. I am strongly opposed, however, to pushing up production and increasing reserve stocks above demand, as was done by many manufacturers this year. The effects of an oversupply are

Running Board of Car Carries Goat On California Trip

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 16.—To avoid being interviewed by reporters and also provide a milk supply, a Colorado motorist arriving in this city had a mammy goat parked on the running board of his car.

While here the goat was on good behavior and refused to lurch on the fenders of an adjoining flivver. Many motorists of the migratory class carry chickens with them for a food supply.

Auto Club Installing Signs on School Stops

As an aid in bringing more careful observance of school stops, the signposting department of the Automobile Club of Southern California is erecting school crossing signs at various parts of the city. The change in regulations beginning with the fall term of school has resulted in some confusion. There are also drivers who do not observe the yellow lines across the streets and are technically guilty of breaking the law when they do not intend to do so. The signs erected by the auto club are designed to call attention of all motorists to school stops.

Under the present regulations, school stops are operative all day and night, Sunday and holidays and every other time. However, the motorist does not have to stop his car unless persons are in the school zone marked on the street. Pedestrians have the right of way at these places and the motorist must govern himself accordingly. Schools in the county are designated by fifteen mile speed limit zones, so that motorists in Los Angeles and vicinity are cautioned to watch their step if they wish to avoid being penalized at school crossings.

TRAFFIC TRICKS

When cars have stopped at a crossing ahead, coast along and take it easy. Sometimes you reach the crossing just in time to start off with them, thus saving your brakes, your gears and your gas. Incidentally, you save your temper for more important use.

When it appears that the car cannot be brought to a stop in time to avoid hitting the back of a car ahead, do not try to turn off to the right or the left if there is other traffic around you. By running straight into the vehicle ahead the bumper has an opportunity to protect your car, and you do not run the risk of involving other cars in the collision.

HITS KILLING OF PETS ON HIGHWAYS

Humane Society Complains To Auto Club of Drivers Who Violate Law

Malignantly maiming and killing cats and dogs on the highways is being charged against the motoring public in complaints to the Automobile Club of Southern California from various humane societies. Some motorists deliberately take the lives of these domestic animals in spite of the fact that the offense is punishable under the state anti-cruelty laws. The carrying of dogs on the running boards of cars frequently results in the injury or death of the animal, through thoughtlessness on the part of the driver.

A general plea for protection of animal pets is being made through Southern California, and humane societies are planning to prosecute such cases in the future. It is hoped, however, that there will be a decrease of injuries and fatalities in the future.

Detests Speed Cops
Here is one justice of the peace who is not in sympathy with the speed cops. In fact he intimates that he would be jolly well pleased if such officers would never show their beaming countenances on the humming highway.

Since the officers were "jacked up" with orders to stay on the job and make hay," R. H. Platt, justice of the peace in the town of Vacaville, Solano county, sees nothing but dark busy days ahead. "I'm doing my darndest, but I can't keep up with the procession. Anything to annoy and add to the load. Since the motor vehicle high mucky-muck jumped on the cops, life has been strenuous.

In Favor of Fists
"There are from six to sixteen petty rows every day that the neighbors should settle out back of their respective barns with a couple of clubs, but they come in and annoy me with their yowling. Wish I could buy a license to shoot the whole bilin', my conscience would not bother me a bit.

"No time to eat, rest or get drunk between 8 a. m. and as long after midnight as I can keep awake. Have to labor for half a Chinaman's wages. . . . I feel like shortly going berserk and hunting the ax.

Water-proofed mats upon which gardeners may kneel and thus save backache, are used in England.

Class In Spelling Will Now Inspect Auto License Tags

Spelling license plates is the latest fad. What does your license plate spell? Don't be discouraged if it doesn't spell anything—but on the other hand, don't be surprised if it does! You may have a good laugh on yourself or your neighbor. Here's the way it's done.

Substitute for the digits from 1 to 9, the letters from A to I, with the figure 0 "wild," that is, standing for any letter you choose. Here's the system:

Working along this line, if your license number is 258-105, it spells "behave"; and if it is 14950, it spells "adieu." If it is 214-750, it spells "Badger"; and if it is 212-290, it spells "Bab-bit." Remember, the figure 0 is any letter you want to fill in with. Now, go ahead—and send your results to the Automobile Editor of the Glendale Evening News.

Auto Lights Must Be Approved by Division

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—In an endeavor to make the highways safe for night driving and to reduce the number of accidents caused by faulty headlights and lighting devices, W. F. Cannon, Captain Los Angeles County Motor Patrol, makes the following statement:

"We are very sorry to note that the motoring public of California know so little regarding the laws of our state covering motor vehicles. This is evidenced by the fact that thousands of stop signals, signaling devices and spotlights of inefficient and unapproved type are seen on the highways of California daily and nightly.

"According to law every device of this nature used in the state must be of a type approved by the Motor Vehicle Division in accordance with regulations set forth in Senate Bill number 743. Motorists will do well to look into this matter as it is unlawful to use on the highways unapproved devices of this nature."

Captain Cannon has prepared a pamphlet containing a list of all official headlight testing stations together with the names of all signaling devices approved by the State Motor Vehicle Division. Copies may be obtained from Captain Cannon's office, 330 North Broadway or any headlight testing station can supply information regarding the legality of signaling devices and spot lights.

VOTES ASKED TO ABOLISH GRADES

Automobile Club Petitions for Passage of Bond Issue For Road Repair

Opportunity for the motorists and public of Los Angeles county to eliminate the most dangerous of the existing grade crossings will be offered at the election, November 4. At this time, voters will be called upon to pass on a bond issue for $5,000,000 to provide the county with funds to do its share in abolishing grade intersections which are a continuous menace to human life, and which every year add to the death list.

The definite step toward making these death traps safe was taken by the Board of Supervisors recently when a resolution was passed submitting the proposition to the voters. Safety organizations, communities, and the Automobile Club of Southern California have been urging for years that something be done to prevent the ghastly toll of lives and injuries.

Fatalities Double

Figures so far indicate that in 1924, there will be double the number of lives sacrificed and persons injured at grade crossings than there were in 1923. Up to May 31, in the United States, there were 789 persons killed, and 2320 injured, which is more than the entire number for 1923.

It is understood that the railways are willing to proceed with abolishing grade crossings so soon as the county will bear its share of the expense. Railways are expected to pay more than half the cost, and the community most benefited by the eliminations also will pay a part.

Two-thirds Vote
A two-thirds affirmative vote is required for passing of this bond issue, which will result in the releasing of other millions of dollars for this constructive program designed to save human lives and limbs. Not only will travel along the roads be much safer, but the improvement is designed also to relieve much of the congestion on these main arteries.

The Automobile Club of Southern California is urging its members to work earnestly for the passage of this measure so that a start may be made in the southland toward making the highways safer for all motorists.

Auto Stage Systems Show Business Growth

During the calendar year 1923 the number of passengers transported by auto stage lines in California totaled 29,202,073, an increase of approximately 8,000,000 over 1922, according to the report of the auto stage and truck department of the State Railroad commission for 1923-24. Freight to the extent of $33,245 tons was transported. The operating revenue of all the auto carriers amounted to $17,554,980.86 and the operating expense $16,237,160.31.

Miller Racing Car Model Is Made by Glendale Mechanic

An exact model of the Miller type racing car, built to one-fifth scale, is to be seen in the window of J. Korn, tailor, 221 South Brand boulevard. The model, which is declared by experts to be perfect in every detail, was designed by Bernard Korn, son of the proprietor, at the workshop in the rear of their residence at 428 West Broadway.

Young Korn, who is only twenty-two years old, has been a student of motor cars for many years, his father says, and not long ago rebuilt a light car of a popular model and did eighty-five miles an hour with it on the Culver City track, winning a speed prize. He is now building a second racing car, with which he hopes to make even faster time.

Every part of the little car in his father's window was cast by Bernard Korn at his own foundry in his workshop, where all the lathe and drill work was done. The model represents the vertical Miller eight cylinder car, with 122 cubic inch piston displacement.

Boston Passes First Law Regarding Speed

With auto race drivers and globe-circling air craft continually hanging new speed records, it is interesting to note that the battle against high speed on the highways started in the United States nearly 200 years ago. With the advent of steamboats, steam railways, motor cars, airships and other mechanically driven conveyances, there has been a steady increase in maximum speed attained. A glance backward, says the Automobile Club of Southern California, indicates that our sturdy forefathers objected to dodging vehicles way back in 1757 when the city fathers of Boston passed the first speed law.

The board of selectmen of the capital of Massachusetts had narrow streets to contend with in addition to citizens inclined to drive their horses at assembly galls. To stop all this mischief and to penalize the speeders, the city authorities in 1757 passed the following ordinance:

"Owing to great danger arising oftentimes from coaches, slays, chairs and other carriages, on the Lord's days, as people are going to or coming from the several churches in this town, being driven with great rapidity, and the public worship being oftentimes much disturbed by such carriages, it is therefore voted and ordered that no coach, slay, chair, chaise or other carriage shall at such times be driven at a greater rate than a foot pace, on penalty to the master of the slave or servant so driving of the sum of ten shillings."

Prison Camps Helpful To State, Roads, Men

Prison camps, under the supervision of the state highway commission have proved effective in fitting prisoners to return to society and in building men out of "human wrecks," according to Ben H. Milliken, superintendent of the camps. Conditions in the camps are conducive to reformation of criminals and are conducted on such a basis that a prisoner must come up to certain requirements before he can number among the workers, the superintendent pointed out.

The men are paid $2.10 per day, less costs of board, etc., which leaves an average net wage of about 75 cents a day. During the past year the 600 men employed in the camps have saved a total of $51,000, of which $7000 has been sent to dependents.

In reference to the requirements of the camp Mr. Milliken stated, "the camps are honor camps in every sense of the word. They offer such inducement that appointment to it is held out as a reward for good conduct in prison. The prisoner is given one day extra credit for every two days he is in camp. Uniforms are not worn, the criminals and free men being dressed alike."

HIGHWAYS ARE CONGESTED WITH AUTOS IN DAYLIGHT

Southbound Motor Stages Able to Maintain Their Schedules Only After Constant Stream of Traffic Is Lightened

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—Congestion of Southern California highways is making moonlight motoring more popular than ever and only on the night schedules are the stage lines seemingly able to run "on time" from observations made by the writer during the last week.

With the highway commission working overtime to shorten and straighten the main arteries to San Diego, Santa Barbara and Bakersfield it still appears that something more must be done to relieve the crowded highways.

Motorists desiring to visit San Diego will find it to their advantage to leave for the trip south when moonlight in the orchards of Orange county, as well as along the seacoast in San Diego county, lends an enchantment to the fast-moving panorama.

Danger on Curves
There is only one danger in motoring south and that is reckless driving, particularly on the curves. Several serious wrecks have been reported in the last week and motor patrols are endeavoring to make the roads safe for the normal-minded motorist.

Good progress is being made on the straightening of the coast highway between Oceanside and San Juan Capistrano and the first of the year should see the job complete. Another week or two and Ventura boulevard to the north will be open to heavy traffic again.

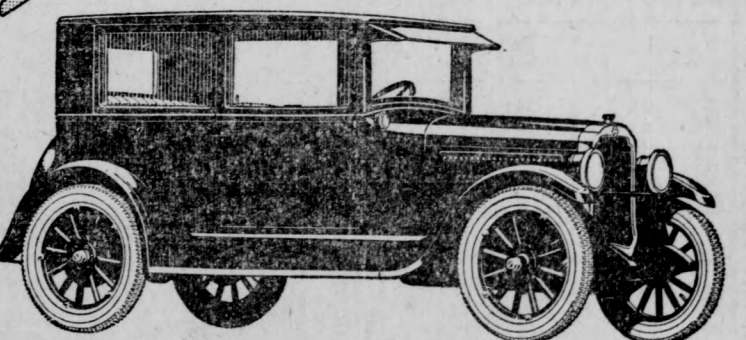

It may be necessary for the next legislature to adopt a law similar to regulations existing between Baltimore and New York which limit the movement of motor trucks to after-midnight hours. Again, it might be wise to initiate the program of building truck highways which would be paid for by charges on the freight. For the present they are the problem and menace of moving traffic at a rapid rate.

Busses Set Pace
The caution used by motorists and truck drivers at the present time is doing much to insure the safety of reckless motorists who take curves and cross bridges at altogether too high rate of speed. There is nothing better for the driver of the private car than to fall in behind a motor stage and keep the steady, legal gait.

The careful and successful driver will pay as much attention to accessories as to fueling the engine, although some start on long trips without carrying a supply of emergency gasoline, oil and water.

RIGHT OILS FOR RACE IMPORTANT

Drivers Out to Break Speed
Record Pay Attention
To Proper Fluid

"Speedway or boulevard, Richfield always leads," has become a slogan of some importance to the motoring public and to followers of the racing game and various hotly-contested automobile events for many years. Since 1921, Richfield gasoline has won every important speedway event, except one, in which it has competed, and during the last two weeks has added two more important records to its string of laurels.

On October 7, Norman Etges, a non-professional driver, using Richfield gasoline and Richlube motor oil, drove a strictly stock Essex scaled in high gear, with gear shift lever removed, over the famous Mount Baldy grades to the end of the trail in Ice House canyon in the phenomenal time of sixteen minutes fifty and three-fifths seconds, a climb of 4315 feet in seven and one-tenth miles, over grades as great as 23 1/2 per cent. This breaks all former speed records, regardless of gears used, and is the first car which has ever made the climb in high.

Wins at Fresno
On October 2, at Fresno, Richfield gasoline and Richlube motor oil in the tank of Earl Cooper's speed chariot helped to establish a new track record for the 150-mile Raisin Day classic, when Cooper drove the entire race without a stop in one hour twenty-five minutes and nine seconds, an average of 105.65 miles per hour.

Much of the development of the automobile and its allied industries is due to racing events, hill-climbing contests and similar features," said C. M. Fuller, president of the Richfield Oil Co., commenting on this subject. "Whenever a new record is established, there are many rivals out to break it and win fresh laurels for themselves. The result is, attempted improvements are either proven or discarded as worthless under the stern test of actual speed and endurance; better motors are evolved better accessories are produced and better motor fuels and lubricants are the result.

"Naturally, we value the reputation Richfield gasoline and Richlube motor oil has earned, and have been able constantly to improve the quality of these products as a result."

HIGHWAY SERVICE OFFERED DRIVERS

L. A. Automobile Association
Lists Assistance Given
Stranded Motorists

A wide variety of service is offered by the Los Angeles Automobile association, which sets forth in the following statement some of the many aids it provides for motorists stranded on the road:

"When your car is mechanically disabled—anywhere, on any highway in the entire state, call the nearest garage. If that garage is an official Los Angeles Automobile association garage, it will send a mechanic out to repair your car, and will charge you nothing. If the nearest garage is a non-official garage, then send us the bill and we will pay it."

"If you are simply out of gas—phone the nearest gasoline station or garage, and let us pay the transportation charges on your gas. Or if you have a blow-out, we will take care of having a new tire sent to you, or will actually pay the tire repair man to fix your tire on the road. If your battery goes dead, or your ignition becomes faulty, just phone for help from the nearest garage."

Assistance Offered
"In other words—no matter what sort of a mechanical emergency comes along, we will help you out of it. We will pay for a full half hour of a mechanic's time on any highway in the state of California. Then, if the mechanic cannot fix your car in that time, we will pay your tow bill to the garage. Naturally, this does not include replacement parts."

"This service is yours anywhere in the state. This service is available any time of the day or night. This service is yours whether or not you have a membership card with you. This service is extended to any member of your family driving your car."

"We are glad to increase our service to you by this added safeguard. Don't hesitate to use this additional service. It is yours, included in your membership with the Los Angeles Automobile association."

Dominican Republic
Imports American Cars

Nearly all of the 2500 passenger cars and 400 trucks in operation in the Dominican republic have been imported during the last three years, following the opening of permanent roads through the interior. In 1922, 167 automobiles were imported, while in 1923 the number increased to 670. By far the greater number of these are of American make. Despite the natural limitations imposed by the size of the population (900,000) and the fact that there are no large centers of population, the market for motor vehicles may be expected to increase considerably, Vice-Consul Raymond C. Richards says.

OLDSMOBILE HAS NEW COACH BODY

Firm Announces New Type Made by Fisher With Many Appointments

A five-passenger coach, combining comfort and style with moderate price, has been added to the Oldsmobile line. It was announced today by C. H. Hunter, 208 West Broadway, local distributor of the Oldsmobile cars. The coach was designed and is being made by the Fisher Body corporation and is the first coach type of closed body to be made by that manufacturer.

The new model is virtually a two-door sedan, having the same appearance and refinements included in all the closed models of the Oldsmobile line, Mr. Hunter said. It is being introduced to meet the growing demand for closed cars, which now form more than 70 per cent of the entire production of the Olds factory.

The coach is made of metal panels from floor to roof and is finished in the rich blue Duco which was adopted as standard for Oldsmobiles several weeks ago. The body has gracefully rounded curves at the back. The roof is covered with heavy waterproof grained fabricoid, which material is used to cover the metal sun visor.

Doors Are Wide
The doors are 33 inches wide. Heavy plate-glass is used for the windows. All windows are operated by quick action turn lifters.

The coach is equipped with the new Fisher one-piece, ventilating, clear vision windshield, which was recently introduced by the body building company. The Oldsmobile coach is the lowest priced car to have this new feature.

The interior is upholstered in gray velours, the sides and top being one tone and the seats a two-toned striped velour.

Plenty of Room
The coach has more than the ordinary amount of head room, being four feet from floor to top. It is 70 inches from the instrument board to the back seat. This seat is 22 inches deep and 46½ inches wide. There is an 18-inch space between the front of the rear seat and the back of the Pullman type driver's seat. The seats have high grade springs and the cushions are 7½ inches deep. Cowl lights with frosted glass faces, an automatic windshield wiper under the sun visor connected with the intake manifold, and a tire carrier are standard equipment.

The coach is priced $1280 delivered. Mr. Hunter said heavy shipments have been ordered, but it looks like he will have to double his demand, from the orders that have been taken.

BIG FUTURE SEEN IN AUTO INDUSTRY

too far-reaching, not only to the manufacturers, but to their employees and to other industries. For the automobile business affects steel, the non-ferrous metals, rubber and other commodities to an astonishing extent."

The trend of prices in general, Mr. Mott believes, will be stable for some time to come. "Most of the manufacturers have already made most of their adjustments in price in conformity with the increase in production costs," he said. "Those who have not done so probably will be obliged to take that step. What increases are to come with most companies will probably be light and dictated by special conditions."

Changes in Models
"Changes in models I expect to see mainly confined to refinements, unless there appears some drastic development in basic engine designs which is unforeseen at present. Most of the companies have already got out their 1925 models. The trade no longer looks forward to the big automobile shows held around the first of the year, such as the New York automobile show and its Chicago counterpart, to produce something new and unique in design."

"Economy naturally will dictate as few basic engine changes as possible. Few outside the industry realize the expense involved in changing engine models. A company can hardly turn around for a couple of million dollars these days."

Changes Expensive
In this connection another automobile authority stated that he estimated it cost one company $2,000,000 in cash to change its models for 1925 and $4,000,000 in prospective sales while the changes were being made. Most motor men feel that the attendance at the auto shows this winter will be as large or larger than ever, since the exhibitions have lost none of their importance as the annual meeting places for manufacturers and dealers from all over the country.

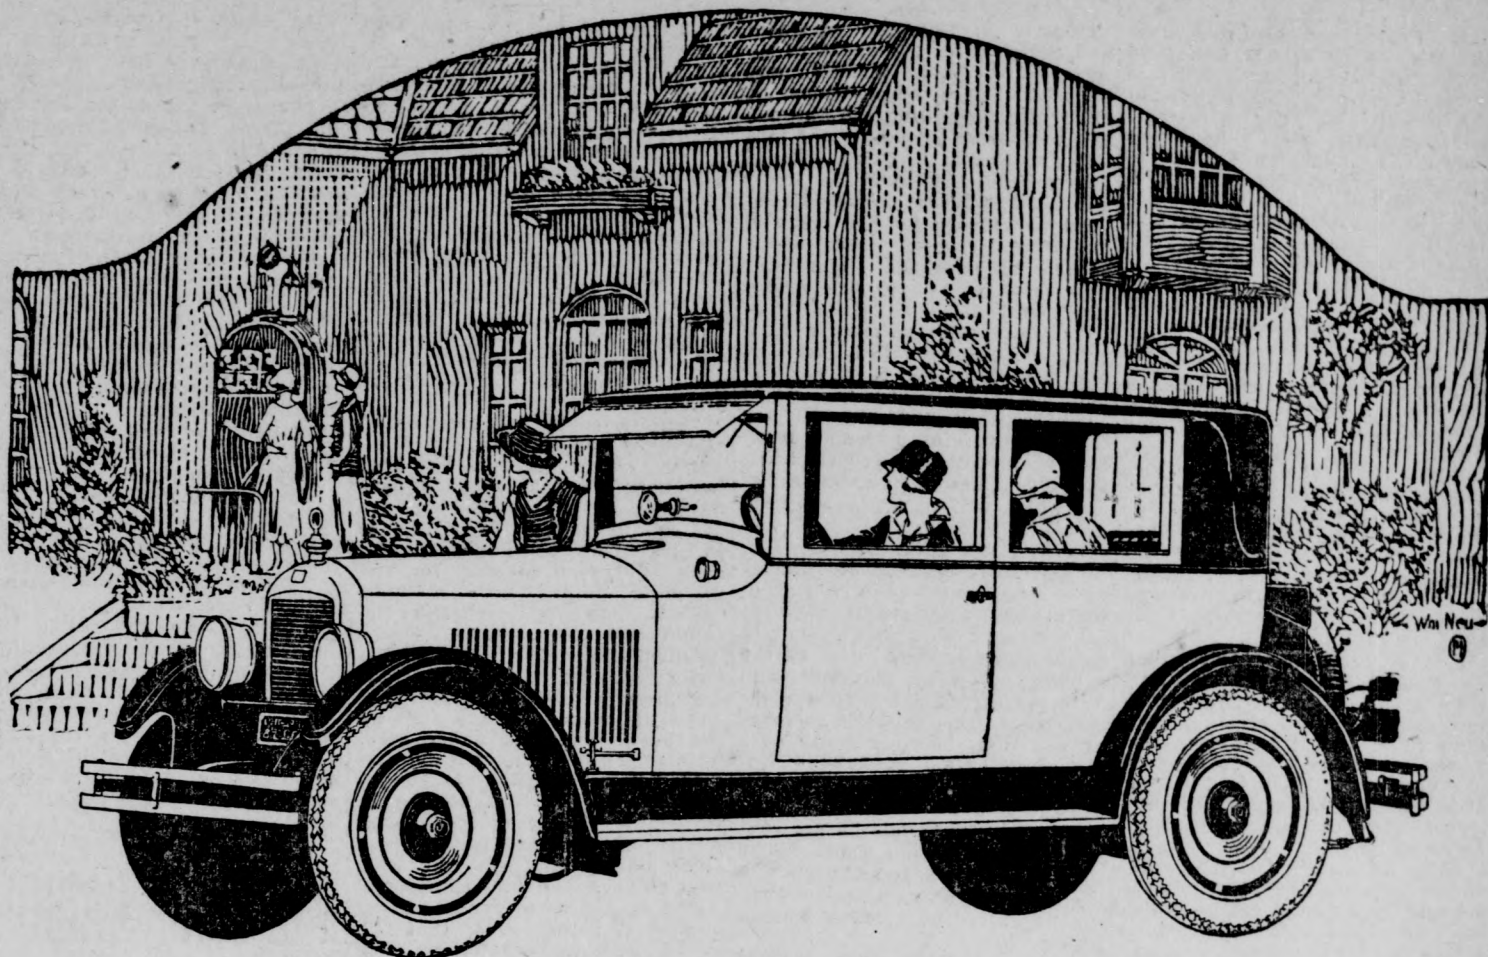

Mr. Mott laid stress on the necessity for road and street improvement to care for the increasing number of automobiles and trucks in operation. Detroit, for example, completely forty-seven miles of wide roads this year, but less than half the automobiles now in operation in that city would fill those new streets from curb to curb and make movement impossible.

A gasoline cook stove that folds up like a suitcase in an instant has been put on the market.

Lasting Performance

More than a billion miles of carefree service for a hundred thousand owners has proved Jewett staunch and able! Little wonder that Jewett's fine performance stays fine! For Jewett has giant power. That's why Jewett outperforms others. Takes hills in high without rushing. Crawls slowly in high through traffic, then accelerates quickly ahead of others. Pulls slowly in high where the going is bad.

Big Motor Means Less Wear

The faster a motor turns over—the faster it wears out. That's logical. Some cars try to equal Jewett's big power by speeding up their smaller motors. Such power is short-lived, naturally. Because Jewett's Paige-built motor is big—power is developed without need of wearing, straining motor speed. So its life is long!

In every part—Jewett is husky to match this big power. Extra deep frame, heavy duty axles, all-steel universal joints, long springs. Lighter cars cannot have equal strength or sturdiness. Neither can they have equal safety. Weight accurately measures the quantity of steel and other materials which you get for the purchase price. Jewett's extra pounds of fine materials mean extra life and extra value!

Jewett gives sound value. You buy years of keen enjoyment—freedom from care,

Plan Three Traffic Zones In Coast Town

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 16.—To avoid street congestion in Santa Barbara, three separate routes for three distinct classes of traffic will be laid out under the plan of the city planning commission. Freight traffic, heavy local traffic and through traffic will be given separate routes of travel, with two north and south thoroughfares and four cross town roads which will be the main arteries of travel. The plans further call for a "boulevard stop" system in order that traffic crossing these thoroughfares will not interfere with through travel.

Fruit Thieves to Be Severely Dealt With

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 16.—Motor patrols and deputy sheriffs are on the look out for nut and fruit thieves who travel the highways at this season of the year and help themselves to the orchardists' crops. Prosecution will result where capture of the culprits is accomplished.

NEW MODELS ARE WELCOMED HERE

Jordan and Velie 1925 Types Shown In Glendale In Advance of L. A.

On Friday and Saturday night the Watson Motor Car Co., 1000 South Brand boulevard, had on display the new 1925 models of the Jordan and Velie cars. This was the first time they were shown in Southern California, four days ahead of Los Angeles. The Lord Motor Car Co., who are the distributors for this county, had their introductory display on Monday night.

C. H. Watson, who is a true Glendelian, had to sell Harry Lord for almost two days on the idea of letting him have his opening before Los Angeles.

Over six hundred people visited the show rooms during the premiere of the new Jordan and Velie motor cars. Needless to say, many places their orders for these popular makes of cars.

"Dashing, daring, debonaire, the Great Jordan Line Eight has quickly won the approval of all Glendadians," said Mr. Watson. "Sincerely measured by practical standards, this truly remarkable and rarely interesting new fine car is a better automobile than America has ever produced. Just a lot of brains put to work with inspiring results. Just a thousand little things to please the owner, enhance beauty, increase comfort, add a thrill to performance, insure lasting economy and service and finally guarantee high resale value."

"The Velie won itself many admirers with its new airplane type motor. This is the engine which has excited more comment among automotive engineers than any item that has come into the industry in the last two years. The new Velie coach sedan is the talk of automobile row. This new roomy, triple-baked enamel motor car at $1695, delivered here, out-rides any make of car in the moderate price field today."

Three prizes were awarded in a 100-hour continuous running endurance contest held by the R. A. McLean Motor Sales Co., Chevrolet dealers, 2028 Colorado Boulevard, Eagle Rock. A stock Chevrolet was used.

Contestants guessed the number of miles run, and amount of gas, oil and water used. Three drivers were used, working in four-hour shifts. 2136 miles were covered, 69 gallons of gas, two quarts of oil and one quart of water used. The average mileage was 30.95 per gallon of gas and 1068 miles

AUTO SALES GAIN, CLAIMS OFFICIAL

Maxwell and Chrysler Cars Are Creating Demand In Cities, Says Report

Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the board of directors of the Maxwell and Chrysler Motor corporations, is optimistic concerning the automobile business. He points out in a letter to Lyman P. Clark, general manager of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, local distributor for the Maxwell and Chrysler cars, that dollar volume of sales this year has been not far behind the record levels of 1923.

"Factory sales of cars, not including Fords, for the first half of 1924 amounted to $815,000,000," said Mr. Chrysler. "This compares with $926,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1923. Last year's total sales reached $1,570,000, a new record, but a figure which will be very closely approached this year."

Sales Show Gain
"Our own business is running at a rate considerably ahead of the industry's comparative figures as compared with last year. In the thirteen leading cities of the country, sales of Maxwell and Chrysler cars for the first eight months of 1924 show an increase of more than 35 per cent over the same period of 1923. New York shows a gain of 64 per cent, Philadelphia 30 per cent, Boston 43 per cent, St. Louis 25 per cent and Detroit 46 per cent."

The first weeks of September showed larger sales for us than in July, the heart of the summer buying season.
"For the first seven months this year, factory sales of Maxwell and Chrysler cars aggregated $42,381,859, compared with $35,311,966 for the similar period a year ago. Chrysler sales during these months totaled $18,225,469 and those of Maxwell $24,146,390. Chrysler sales are now running at the rate of $4,500,000 a month."

to one quart of oil. One quart of water was used.
The first prize, $50 credit on a new Chevrolet, was won by Seymour G. Smith, 415 W. Wilson, Glendale, who guessed 76 gallons of gas, two and one-half quarts of oil and 2148 miles; second, $25 credit on a Chevrolet, William J. Watkins, 115 1/2 South Brand Boulevard, 2150 miles, 78 gallons gas and three quarts of oil; third, tire and tube, James S. Mead, 810 E. SPECIAL SALE ON USED AUTOS HELD

Reconditioned Cars Offered By Glendale Firm at Bargain Prices

The special sale on used cars that is being held this week by the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, offers to many Glendale people a solution of their car purchase problem, as the company is offering a large number of Maxwell cars that have been overhauled in every detail, repainted, reconditioned in accordance with the methods followed by the Glendale Motor Car Co. These cars have had every worn part replaced with a new one, so that they are now in condition to deliver many thousands of miles of service at an initial cost much lower than their original price.

"The prices at which we are offering these cars in the Used Car week from October 12 to 15," says Lyman P. Clark, "place these machines on the bargain counter during this period. The cars that we are offering are in first-class shape in every respect, for the Glendale Motor Car Co. stands behind every car it sells and assumes full responsibility for the machine when it is placed in the buyer's hands. We realize that our duty to our clients does not end with the sale of the car—we see that the machine renders service after he has bought it and has placed it in service."

"These prices will not be in force any longer than the present week, and the bargains that are being offered to those who wish to purchase reliable transportation are such as to permit almost anyone to secure a car that will render him long service, as most of them have only been run a comparatively short distance, and they are values that we have not been able to offer before."

Besides the Maxwell cars that are on sale during this week at these reduced prices, there are several other reliable makes that have also been placed in first-class condition, ready for buyers who may have a preference for some other make of car.

LIGHTWEIGHTS TO OPEN HERE TODAY

Local Team to Play Citrus Here; Regulars Going to Citrus Tomorrow

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.

On Broadway field the Glendale lightweights will usher in their regular schedule today with the Citrus 130-pounders. This promises to be a good, fast game. Coach Hick, formerly of U. S. C., has the lightweight bunch all to himself and with good material has built up an excellent team.

Tomorrow the Varsity Dynamiters meet the Citrus Union high school eleven on the latter's field. This game, although the first of the regular season, is marked by Coach Hayhurst as being the one of the two hardest league games for the Dynamiters during the season. The other tough game, with Covina, will also be staged on hostile grounds.

The locals topped off their practice with the finishing touches today. The line-up to start the game so far has not been divulged but will probably include Lavelle, Phillips, Zaun, De Parec, and Dotson on the line, and Elliot, Denney, and Elliot in the backfield. There has been some mix-up concerning the eligibility of Jack Ward, halfback. Ward is hovering around his twenty-first birthday and his records will have to be looked up before he will be permitted to participate in the league games.

MODEL OF RADIO STATION COMING

Miniature Reproduction of WTAM, Cleveland, to Be Shown In Glendale

"Thousands of radio fans all over the country have heard WTAM, Cleveland's largest broadcasting station. Now they are going to have an opportunity to see what it looks like," says H. M. Kuhn, one of the proprietors of the Cizek Auto Electric Co., 300 South Brand boulevard, distributors of Willard batteries in Glendale.

"The equipment engineering department of the Willard Storage Battery Co., has just completed a miniature model of WTAM that is exact in detail, down to the insulators in the antenna. The model, showing the towers, the building and the surrounding grounds, is mounted on a table and will be shipped to Glendale soon for display purposes. A special arrangement of Willard batteries provides lights inside the miniature bungalow. The reproduction is in exact proportion and made to scale from blueprints and specifications used by the contractors in building the original."

"With the station model on its tour of the country, goes a large wall map of the United States and portions of Canada and Mexico. This map is studded with tiny electric lights wherever there is a broadcasting station using Willard radio batteries for power. There are more than 160 of these stations in the country and more are being added daily."

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Here's one that the shrewd Paddy Mullins—manager of Harry Wills, ex-middleweight champion Mike O'Dowd, and world's light heavyweight champion, Mike McGigue—missed.
Back in the winter of 1921, Kid Murphy, that grand little fighter of another day, wrote to Mullins inviting him to run down to Trenton and look over a promising young featherweight who had all the earmarks of a coming champion. Paddy read the letter and smiled. No doubt he attributed the nice things written about the boy to a father's pride in his offspring—for the boy was none other than Tommy Kid Murphy. But Kid Murphy was right. Young Tommy has been performing very well indeed for the short time he has been in competition and he has attracted the attention of several big managers who are falling over themselves to sign up the boy. The Kid, who is partly blind and conducts a news stand in Trenton, just smiled at the fanciful propositions put before him and has decided to have the major say in contracting for his boy's appearances.

Tex Rickard very seldom passes up the chance to introduce new faces in his fistic emporium and he has booked the boy to appear in Madison Square Garden in the near future.
Put Tommy Kid Murphy's name in your book as worth watching. He's a chip off the old block.

GEORGIA ELEVEN LOOMING STRONG

Coach Woodruff Builds Up Good Team; Yale Plays Next Improvement

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—If Georgia does not suffer one of those lesions that affect a team which has been geared up to a great afternoon it will go far in the south this year. Woodruff, the coach, has sought his inspiration at many fronts this season and the Athens' offensive accordingly represents many schools of thought. Which is precisely as it should be. No one coach knows it all and the wise mentor is the one who selects and adapts while at the same time firing the eleven with united impulse and smooth co-ordination.

The efficiency of the two-step-out alternating occasionally with a quick reverse movement of the backs and ends was signally demonstrated by the Georgians and when the Yale ends and tackles solved this maneuver in the second half, the men of Athens turned on a wide forward passing attack that was beautifully done.

The Eli eleven is a great outfit which has a great deal yet to learn. Their attack just now is laid upon the narrowest lines and nothing in the way of a long attack has been provided. At least it was not apparent on Saturday.

Most of Yale's plays involved the straight run from kick formation with the guards paired and when the ends and tackles performed their duties the backs were dilatory.

Again when the ball carriers and interference came up nicely, the linemen had not done their parts.

In a word there was poor co-ordination between the line and the backs until in the second half Joe went in at guard and two substitute tackles relieved the regular pair. It remains to be seen whether or not Yale's replacements stemmed the Dixie tide or whether the Athenians had begun to tire.

Yale's backs and ends were at sea in defending against the enlivened overhead attack of Georgians and the Elis gave the impression of being an outfit that needs a lot of intensive instruction by the coaches and a great deal of inspiration.

Again surprises were the order of the day. Oklahoma upset the Missouri Valley by administering a beating to Nebraska. Score one for the southwestern conference, just as the Missouri Valley scored one on the Big Ten, on October 4. Princeton ran against a team which was loaded for bear in the Lehigh game. Encouraging features from the Tiger standpoint were the way in which the green line held the heavier Lehigh forwards and the general morale of the team pitted against an eleven which had started practice a month earlier and was pointed for this contest.

Dartmouth, Syracuse, Penn State and Notre Dame showed expected strength and the Army revealed progress. Marquette went to Annapolis giving high promise and justified all expectations. Wisconsin ran against a snag in Coe and was tied, while Ohio State did better against Iowa than last year, but the tie score was less than the Buckeyes expected to do.

Williams' victory over Cornell was utterly surprising but Williams is apt to turn such a trick every once in awhile. Gil Dobie is a great coach, but he is great in stressing unified action whereas men like Zupke will place stress upon the individual. Both arrive at the same place in the end as a rule, but the Dobie method requires longer time. Georgia Tech is coming. That the game against the strong Florida team was a worthy achievement than might appear.

Group Signal System Is Believed Doomed

The group signal system, sometimes called the "huddle" system, is believed doomed in football circles. The system was used for the first time on the coast last Saturday by the Trojans in the game against the Arizona Wildcats, and the fans failed to fall in with the idea. In the second half the Trojans returned to the old style of broadcasting their signals.

The chief complaint against the system, which originated in the east and has been used extensively there this season, is the fact that it tends to slow up the game. It makes judgments on off-side plays difficult for officials, it is claimed. Reports from the east indicate the matter will probably be brought before the rules committee at the next meeting.

Portland Fans Await Aggies-U.S.C. Contest

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 16.—With the U. S. The Trojans were scheduled to arrive tonight. They will stay at the Multnomah hotel and be joined there Friday noon by their rivals, the Oregon Aggies. Both elevens will work out on the sand at Multnomah field Friday. A fast, dry field is in the making with the storm of the past days apparently blown over.

LEWIS ADVISES SURVEY OF CITY

Textile Man Urges Chamber
Take Industrial Census
And Trade at Home

Urging the Chamber of Commerce to make a survey of industrial conditions in Glendale, as certain what kind of factories are best suited for the city, and stating that Glendale merchants are "cutting their throats" when they purchase goods not manufactured in the Los Angeles metropolitan district, Henry Lewis, of the Brownstein-Lewis Co., Los Angeles, addressed the weekly luncheon of the Greater Glendale Luncheon club of the Chamber of Commerce in the Alley Inn at noon today. Milt Coye was chairman of the meeting and J. Arthur Myers led the community singing. Mike Kaufman officiated at the piano.

California's History
Mr. Lewis spoke of the work being done by his factory in Los Angeles, then touched on the meaning of the word California. He said there have been four epochs in the history of California—mining, agriculture, horticulture and industry, the latter being the most important.

Touching again on the history of the Brownstein-Lewis Co., he paid a glowing tribute to George Warren, of Glendale, who was present, saying Mr. Warren had been one of the firm's customers for 23 years.

When the Brownstein-Lewis Co. was started nearly 30 years ago, it had 28 power machines, the first in Los Angeles. Now, Mr. Lewis said, there are over 20,000 in Los Angeles, employing more than 30,000 people at an average wage of $2.60 per week.

Enormous Earning Power
This army of employees, he said, has an earning power of $30,000,000 and at this point he urged Glendale merchants to buy products manufactured in the metropolitan district of Los Angeles, saying they were "cutting their throats" if they did not do so. If Glendale merchants and those of neighboring cities bought home products, he said, this income would be increased to $50,000,000 through an increased payroll and Glendale merchants would directly benefit from an increased business.

He then urged the Chamber of Commerce to make a survey of industrial conditions and locate the proper kind of factories here, preferably the smaller ones employing skilled mechanics.

Glendale's History
Mr. Lewis also spoke of the early history of Glendale, he having lived in Los Angeles 42 years and saw the building of a small railroad from Long Beach to a little village on the banks of the Los Angeles river called Glendale, and everyone wondered why the road was being built. This was 35 years ago, he said, and was the beginning of Glendale.

Howard Wood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, urged a better attendance next week and asked everyone present to pledge two guests at the next luncheon. J. Arthur Myers also urged a better attendance and wanted those present to take time Wednesday and Thursday morning of each

LIONS' ADD THREE FIRST MEMBERS

Second Meeting of New Club
Is Held at Egyptian
Village Today

The names of three new charter members were added to the roster of the Glendale Lions' club at the second meeting of the organization held today noon at the Egyptian Village. The new charter members are Al Cawood, manager of the Egyptian Village; B. A. Mason and H. L. Findlay.

W. B. Kelly, president of the organization, presided at the meeting. C. W. Ide, of the organization committee of the Pasadena Lions' club, assisted in conducting the meeting. Paul B. Scoles, formerly of Lima, Ohio, Lions' club, and J. W. Smith, of Pasadena, formerly a member of the Dayton, Ohio, Lions' club spoke.

The purpose and aims of the organization were described by Warren Russell, vice president of the Santa Monica club. He said the Lions' club in Santa Monica was a little over a year old. The club had bought a fire net for the fire department, sponsors a troop of Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts, is assisting the Sea Scouts in getting boats, and organized the Lions' club at Venice by way of outstanding achievements in the first year. The Venice club, he said, is raising $3,500 to provide a seaside playground for children, and donated ten cement benches to the city for park purposes.

Mr. Russell told of joint meetings being held by the Venice, Sawtelle and Santa Monica clubs, and invited the members of the Glendale club to the meeting to be held next Thursday at the Santa Monica Athletic club house. Visitors present today were: C. W. Ide, Al G. Vogan, J. W. Smith, F. H. Randall and C. H. Pease, of Pasadena, and Warren Russell of Santa Monica. Glendadians at the meeting were W. B. Kelly, president; A. R. Holland, secretary; Dr. N. C. Pain, H. L. Findlay, A. W. Naudain, John Swearingin, F. E. Woods, B. A. Mason and Paul B. Scoles.

The members paused during the luncheon to climb on the roof of the building and witness the flight of the Shenandoah over Glendale after Manager Cawood had sighted it and called their attention to the flight.

PIONEER DAYS OF GLENDALE TOLD

J. C. Sherer Tells Rotarians
Some Facts About Early Days of Community

"E. D. Goode, now a resident of Palms, California, should be called the father of Glendale," J. C. Sherer, city treasurer and historian, told Rotarians here at their luncheon in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse today. The vicissitudes of the early days, as well as the brighter spots, passed in the pioneer's review, and strange to say Catesby C. Thom, son of one of Glendale's earliest settlers whose peach orchard occupied the site of the Tuesday club was present as a visiting member from Los Angeles.

Other visitors included Charles R. Feehey of Los Angeles; Walter Galley, and J. Lloyd Moore, city manager of Alhambra; J. E. Newcomer, Leon H. Austin and C. I. Lombard; of Burbank; L. R. Tanner of Brainerd, Minn., and W. G. Wickenden of San Luis Obispo, Calif.

J. M. Rhoades introduced A. L. Kideny and M. T. White of the Sinaloa Golf and Country club; Dan Kelly introduced A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, and Gil A. Cowan introduced James Hamilton of Santa Barbara as their guests.

Reports were heard from Warren Newton in charge of the Boy Scout troop; Les LaVelle, president of the high school student body.

Make Announcements

Mrs. Dan Campbell urged members of the Rotary club to attend the Chamber of Commerce forum dinner next Monday night, outlining the good time and good things in eating in an intimate manner; Clark Dilley announced the Father and Son banquet the night of October 24; and John T. Cate called attention to the service club's tennis league now being formed. Attorney Owen C. Emery led ten minutes of singing.

Introducing the speaker of the day, Dan Kelly, said it was always a pleasure to hear about early Glendale, and Mr. Sherer opened his remarks with an anecdote in which the present Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur was laughed down in a Los Angeles Republican meeting for alluding to Socrates in one of his earlier speeches.

After alluding briefly to the discoverers who made possible the subsequent settlement of California, Mr. Sherer launched into the coming of Father Junipero Serra and of the appearance on the scene of the Verdugo family.

From Spanish King
"Jose Maria Verdugo received a land grant of 36,000 acres from a Spanish king in 1784," said Mr. Sherer. "He died in 1831 and his son, Julio, and daughter, Catalina, succeeded to the property, which embraced all of what is now Glendale and in addition, Burbank, Eagle Rock, Montrose, and, in fact, the entire valley of the Verdugo hills.

"The children of Jose Maria seem to have prospered and enjoyed the gay, colorful life of those days. During the period of the next thirty years they accumulated considerable money and built two or three houses on their property. At last, however, they fell into financial difficulties and in 1860 were obliged to mortgage the great ranch for $3445 cash, for which they were obliged to pay the ruinous interest of 3 per cent per month, which was the current rate at that time.

Interest Piles Up
"At the expiration of two years foreclosure proceedings were instituted when they were unable to repay the loan and accrued interest. Then for a period of seven years the case was dragged through the California courts, that fatal 3 per cent per month interest ticking off all the while, day and night, with every clock beat. "Finally, in 1868, the ranch was sold under foreclosure for $58,645, and in 1882 a patent to the land was issued by the United States government, ninety-two years after the original Spanish grant. Meanwhile Julio had died in 1876, aged 88 years, and his wife had died four years previous, aged 98. During the last period of their lives they made their home on South Verdugo road, on the 200-acre homestead which was returned to them when their great holdings were taken away."

Mr. Sherer then told how in 1880 he first became acquainted with Glendale, when he bought five acres of this original 200-acre homestead, for $50 an acre. There he has lived with his family ever since, and Somerset farm at 717 South Verdugo road is now valued in excess of $7500 an acre, which would have made the Verdugo family worth $1,500,000, had they held intact even the 200 acres given back to them when their original holdings were foreclosed, Mr. Sherer pointed out.

The operations of C. E. Thom, Judge E. M. Ross and H. J. Crow were then traced by Mr. Sherer, who gave an intimate picture of early ranching life in Glendale, as practiced in the 80s. He concluded his outline of Glendale history with a brief sketch of the development of the city up to 1906, when it was incorporated, and ended with a reference to the municipal election of 1909, when the voters signified their wish to take over the water and electric plants, which had hitherto been operated by private corporations.

News Letter

From Staff Correspondents of International News Service

By R. T. BULKELEY
For International News Service.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 15.—One new trophy has been recently hoisted to the shelves of the newly-opened Lapham Field House, where athletically inclined Yale undergraduates now make their headquarters. The trophy is the Sexton cup, provided under the will of Lawrence H. Sexton, Harvard, 1884, and crew manager of Harvard for 1883. As matters now stand, the cup goes to the winner of the Harvard-Yale race at New London, but Mr. Sexton indicated in his will he hoped Cornell also might be permitted a chance to get the cup.

The Sexton trophy's first winner was the wonder crew that Yale sent overseas to win a world championship last summer. Walter C. Bayliss, James J. Storrow and Robert F. Herick, Bostonians, make up the committee in charge of the cup, and it was their decision that put the trophy in Lapham Field House.

With the opening of the new college year the Lapham structure was formally commissioned, and there and there and after their outdoor exercise. Across a highway lie the baseball fields and the track. Standing with its rear to the highway, Lapham Field House looks upon a multitude of tennis courts and across them to the rambling of the Yale Bowl. Nearby are Pratt Field, hedged by a fence lined with electric floodlights, where Yale has secret football practice; the lacrosse field, the great artillery armory where students are trained to be officers of that arm of service, and several minor playing fields—all part of Yale's plan to give the students all they want in the line of outdoor exercise, there, too, the ever-rising tide of female students—against whom Yale undergraduates have struggled these many years—have space and their own tennis courts.

Yale as a co-ed institution is not far distant, in the opinion of many who are interested in the university. To the art school, music school, to the schools of divinity, medicine and law, the girls are finding admission in increasing numbers, and the large graduate school, where high degrees are awarded to climax the years of hard work, women are very familiar. Academic and scientific departments alone have no women students, and to many those two departments alone are Yale, hence Yale is no co-ed affair. Yale during the past summer took care of 1500 women, teachers in many public schools, who are getting degrees in piecemeal.

Athletic teams visiting Yale for competition have heretofore dressed in the barnlike gymnasium on Elm street and traveled out to the athletic fields by trolley car. Students have been playing tennis in Sage-Person square, a bare quarter mile north of the university center, walking back and forth. Under the new centralized athletic plant, Yale is maintaining a bus line between the gymnasium and Lapham Field House, a matter of perhaps three miles by highway, and all the student has to do is walk to the gym and board a bus for the ride.

A new competition for Yale students who go in for extra-curriculum events is furnished this year by the Pictorial Review of Yale Daily News. Out once a week, the Review shows all Yale's activities of the preceding seven days in pictures taken by undergraduates. They get credit for three types of work—errands, business and photographic. By amassing a large collection of points along these lines the students win important positions on the new publication, such as editor, business manager, and the like.

Meanwhile the "OCD," as Yale Daily News is fondly termed, because it is the oldest college daily newspaper anywhere, is booming as its forty-seventh year opens and finds it a paper that pays in re-

THE GATEWAY

Charles Emmett Mack, whose performance of the role of young Montague is one of the outstanding features of D. W. Griffith's "America," now at the Gateway Theater, playing today, Friday and Saturday, is a native of Scranton, Pa., where he attended St. Thomas' college.

While in college he saw the circus for the first time, and was cured by the apparently carefree gypsy life of a circus man, he decided that the moment he got his diploma he would run away from home and become a clown.

He carried out his resolve, joining a small tent show, and later adding himself to Ringling Brothers "Greatest Show on Earth," with which he traveled for two seasons. He soon lost both his illusions as to circus life being carefree and easy, and his desire for travel. But his desire for an histrionic career remained, and he went into vaudeville. Finding even the traveling there too irksome, he joined a stock company, and settled down to a real apprenticeship for theatrical work.

Struck by the opportunities which the silver-sheet offered to young actors, Mack sought work in the studios; and was finally successful in joining the Griffith forces, getting a small part in "Dream Street."

Since that time he has appeared exclusively under the Griffith banner.

THE GLENDALE

Emory Johnson's "The Spirit of the U. S. A.," concludes today at the Glendale theatre. Friday and Saturday the feature is "The Fighting Sap," with Fred Thompson.

THE T. D. & L.

"The Fire Patrol" concludes today at the T. D. & L. theatre. Friday and Saturday the feature is Buster Keaton in "The Navigator."

636,849 Automobiles

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—There are now 636,849 passenger and commercial automobiles registered in Massachusetts as compared with 531,633 at this time last year.

Turns to advertisers, much to the students' delight. To be editor of Yale Daily News ranks here with being captain of the football team or of the crew.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

The Dobinson Players are now presenting nightly at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, "The Country Cousin," by Booth Tarkington, the curtain rising at 8:15 o'clock. On Saturday there will be a 2:30 o'clock matinee, states Miss Eva Daniels, business manager, and the play will open again Wednesday of next week, with a matinee, and continue through the week.

This is the second production of the Dobinson Players, featuring John Vosburgh, Gertrude Kellar and a well-selected supporting cast, the initial offering, "A Prince There Was," having made a decided impression on Glendale theatre-goers.

"The Country Cousin" is a splendid play and well worth anyone's time. As presented by the Dobinson Players it is fully up to the high standards set by its author and his collaborator, Julian Street.

'Lady Friend' Named

In Wife's Complaint

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—Promises of a scandal in Arcadia is contained in the separate maintenance suit filed in Los Angeles county superior court, by Mrs. Elizabeth R. Smith, against Albert J. Smith, former Arcadia banker. She alleges he recently sold out his interests and devoted time and money to a "lady friend." Also, he is said to have told her to sue and he would "show her up."

Carmelita Wilson in a cross complaint filed alleges that Robert Wilson, a Los Angeles county humane officer, was extremely cruel to her.

Helen Brewer charged her husband Verne with bootlegging before he deserted her. Elizabeth Bump answered Otto Lee Bump's suit with the claim that he used to hide under the bed and read when company visited them in Phoenix, Ariz.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE POTATO MASHER

he hit the Wolf on his soft and tender nose with the hard potato masher.

"Googie! Googie!" howled the Wolf, clapping his paws to his nose. "Oh, ouchie wowchie!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny. "I want none of your potato pancakes. I'll make a pancake of you!" And with that he hit the Wolf again with the potato masher and then out of the window jumped the rabbit, and safely got to his bungalow he ran.

"Fooled again! Just like the Fox!" howled the Wolf. "Oh, how sore is my nose!"

But it served him right—at least I think so, though I don't know how you feel about it. Anyhow, if the moon doesn't fall down out of the clouds and try to go to sleep in the crib with the rag doll, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the tack hammer.

"At the west end of Broadway on the San Fernando road let us have a union Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric freight and passenger depot, then let us set apart that district north from the depot and between the Pacific Electric tracks and San Fernando road for our industrial district," says T. W. Watson.

The Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations has approximately 300 members.

When the electric line was built into Glendale a heavy slice was cut off the west side of the high school grounds at Broadway and Brand boulevard to widen the boulevard for a right of way.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

NO WRINKLES

"Dear Doctor Peters—I started with your instructions for reducing two months ago. I am 5 feet, 4 inches tall, and I did weigh 131, but now I weigh 161. I feel lots better, look better and am still improving. The exercises are fine. I keep the flesh solid, and the neck exercises keep the neck and the skin under the eyes from getting wrinkled. It takes patience and time and it means success.—Mrs. O. B."

If the reduction is slow enough there should be no wrinkling of the skin. There practically never is any wrinkling of the skin under 35 or 40, while the skin is elastic, even with a quick reduction. It is not wise to reduce more than 2 pounds a week after 35 or 40 (although if one goes on the 3-day liquid diet, there can be a loss of 10 pounds the first week). The neck seems to be the part of the anatomy that seems to give the most bother so far as wrinkles are concerned. As your letter testifies, you didn't wrinkle.

The neck exercises are: Twisting and turning the neck in all directions 25 times at each session 3 or 4 times a day; stretching the neck upward and massaging downward at the same time. The cold cream massage, patting and slapping the face to bring the blood to the surface (lightly around the eyes), ice rubs, etc., are all recommended.

HANDS ASLEEP

Mrs. M.—You probably lie in such a position that the nerves in the arms are pressed upon and that is the cause of the numbness and tingling in your hands. You ask me if I think it is due to your being overweight. I shouldn't wonder—overweight seems to be the cause of almost everything under the sun. Are you going to reduce?

THE F. F. PRAYER

Dear Doctor—When the mother of one of my early girlhood friends saw me after a lapse of 12 years and exclaimed in real horror, "Oh, Patricia, you were such a slim little thing, I can hardly believe it is you." I was almost as ashamed as if I had done something disgraceful. So here I am to see if you can really help me to dispose of a few extra pounds? I hope you can tell me in particular how to reduce the waist to normal?

"Here's a little prayer for our Friendly Fat Fraternity which they will enjoy:
"Now I sit me down to eat
"I pray I may temptation beat;
"For if I yield before I'm through
"I'll surely gain a pound or two."
—B. K."

It won't be long before a person will be ashamed to be overweight. When everyone knows, as we know, that overweight is due to overeating, then every overweight person is going to advertise to the world that he can curb his physical appetite. I wrote an article once that it will soon be a disgrace to be fat. I stand by it.

If you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for the article on the atonic abdominal wall, and practice the exercises described in that, you will reduce your waist. The instructions on reducing were sent if you enclosed a good sized self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in stamps with your request. Did you? Thanks for the verse.

DARKENING A MOLE

Mrs. R. wants to know if darkening a mole with a lead pencil is harmful. I wouldn't do it. Moles should not be irritated. Later in life, during the so-called cancer age, (after 40 usually), moles or warts if they are in positions where they are constantly irritated, may develop to cancerous growths. The darkening of the little mole might not do any harm but I would not make a practice of it.

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers.

My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope for your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please use your own name and evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

PLASTIC SURGERY

Many letters come to me every week, asking about plastic surgery from women wishing to try it, but knowing only vaguely what it is. Plastic surgery is very valuable and very dangerous. Anyone undertaking such work must be highly skilled; unfortunately our real surgeons, until recently, have looked upon this sort of work with scorn.

During the war army surgeons performed operations little short of miracles. There is the famous case of the Yorkshire miner, whose whole lower face, shot away, was actually rebuilt by a surgeon, and skin made to grow over it. Noses were made from little fingers; gruesome, terrible, and yet beautiful operations were performed by continental doctors, and, later, by our own. Some of these men have gone on with plastic surgery, mostly for the curing of actual deformities.

I do not recommend any reader to resort to this aid, unless she does suffer from a real deformity. Then, by all means, have it removed. Scars, birthmarks, badly protruding ears (this is an easy thing to correct), cross eyes, a really ugly nose, a really ugly chin; these can be treated by the facial surgeon. But when it comes to "lifting" the face to remove wrinkles—be careful. Don't attempt to have the thing done unless you are nearing 60; before that there are easier, safer ways to try. And at 60, suggests a friend, you'll find wrinkles are becoming! For the wrinkles operation, a tiny tuck is taken in the skin, above each temple, just back of the line where the hair grows. It does pull up the skin and smooth out wrinkles, but it gives the face an odd wooden expression which lasts years until the skin has grown loose. By that time some wrinkles are back again. In time, it may be cheap and practical for everyone to try; at present it is dangerous and expensive and not to be advised.

Anxious—Lines in the skin at 23 are only temporary, due to being somewhat below normal in health at this season. If you have lost weight drink a quart of milk each day and get out in the air as much as possible. Massage face and throat each night with a nourishing cream.

Miss A. E. M.—A treatment for whiteheads is to prick each head with a needle that has been dipped in some antiseptic solution. Press out the clogged secretion from the enlarged pore, taking care not to bruise the skin. Wipe off the surface with peroxide or any other simple antiseptic.

W. V. Mc. C.—A girl of 14½ years, with a height of 5 feet 7½ inches, should weigh about 120 pounds. A little less would be all right if she is in good health. Drink plenty of water and eat less of all rich foods to overcome an oily skin.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

SANTA CLARA, TIGERS TO BATTLE

Trojans Play Oregon Aggies; Glendale High Goes to Citrus for Opener

Football fans who have been waiting for real action on the gridiron will find their dish heaping full Saturday, when the coast conference season gets going. Appetizers for the hungry fans will come Friday in the way of crack high school games, the Central League getting under way, the Coast League opens up, the City League in Los Angeles starts at the Coliseum and the Bay Leaguers continue their season.

Occidental and Santa Clara meet Saturday in what is expected to be one of the hardest fought battles of the season among the smaller colleges of the state. The contest will be staged in the Los Angeles Coliseum and is expected to draw one of the largest football crowds so far this year. Occidental Freshmen battle Manual Arts high school in a preliminary game at the coliseum. This affair will start at 12:30 o'clock.

The Trojans will battle against the Oregon Aggies Saturday at Portland. The Trojans are on the ground getting in a lot of practice while the Aggies have been tutored for several weeks in mystery plays. It will be the Aggies' first coast conference struggle this season.

Olympics vs. Bears

The California Bears are scheduled to play the Olympic club at Berkeley on Saturday. While this game is not looked upon as one of vast importance, the Bears are conceded the edge. The big games come next week when they play Washington State at Berkeley, and the following week, when the Trojans invade the new stadium.

Oregon State plays Stanford at Palo Alto Saturday, and the Idaho vs. Washington State game at Moscow will draw many. University of Washington and Montana State college will meet at Seattle. The State College team and Redlands mix at San Diego. Pomona college Saghehens will battle the Caltech crew at Claremont.

Roper Hopes For Big Year

SPORT WISDOM

By WALTER CAMP
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—If Notre Dame can beat West Point again next Saturday, Knute Rockne will be deserving of all the encomiums that can be showered upon him—provided, of course, that the Army uses all the available strength it can put into the field. Army's back trio—Wood, Wilson and Hewitt, is a combination capable of more characters of play than almost any that can be got together so far this season. It includes a steady, reliable kicker and passer, as good an open field runner as they make, and a pile driving line-smasher. The Army has a fine line, too, and Garbisch for field kicks.

True, Notre Dame has a veteran backfield, too, but it has not nearly so much power in the line as has the Army. It will take cleverness, unusual even for Rockne, to turn the trick against the Army again this year. His chance, so far as the writer can see, will lie in West Point's slowness to get going and its unwillingness to put everything it has into the game at the very start and keep it there as long as it can.

We shall certainly see some new forward passing features, but the greatest trick Rockne has lies in the clever use of his ends.

Another good game next Saturday will be the Syracuse-Boston College game at Syracuse, where Chick Meehan will line his men up against Cavanaugh's hard fighting Bostonians. This should be a mighty close struggle, with the odds slightly favoring Syracuse in spite of the losses that Meehan has suffered in his backfield.

A very vital game will be played at New Haven between Yale and Dartmouth, which are renewing relations after a lapse of some thirty years. Jess Hawley and Campbell have been pointing for this contest, and judging from the power Dartmouth showed against Vermont last Saturday and the lack of scoring power unearthed by Yale against Georgia, the Bull Dog is going to be in for a busy session. Dartmouth lost only one game last season, that with Cornell, and is not likely to lose many this season.

Another really big hard game will be played at Atlanta between Penn State and Georgia Tech. The Penn State eleven won only by 7-0 last year, and Bezdak is likely to have his hands full winning this time. Alexander has been coaching Georgia Tech now for some years and developing good teams.

'Exorbitant Demands' Bar Jack's French Go

BIARRITZ, France, Oct. 16.—Alfred Beulant, proprietor of the Biarritz casino, said today negotiations with Jack Dempsey to defend his title here against Paolino, the French-Spanish heavyweight, had reached an impasse, owing to what he termed the champion's "exorbitant demands." He said he had cabled Dempsey a compromise offer and was awaiting a reply. "I cabled Dempsey asking his price to fight Paolino here next August," Beulant explained. "Dempsey's reply was to ask for a million francs, a demand that I consider beyond reason. I have re-cabled Dempsey, explaining that his terms are exorbitant, and am hopefully awaiting a favorable reply."

Exports of agricultural implements manufactured in this country increased 72 per cent in the last year.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 16.—Bill Roper, veteran Princeton coach and one of the big men in football today, says this will be his last year as leader of the Tiger on the gridiron. Going on that basis he wants his farewell appearance to be a memorable one.

CAPTAIN STOUT

To aid him in whipping the somewhat battered Tiger of 1923 into shape he has brought in Herb Treat, all-American tackle in 1922, who is back to drill the tacklers. Van Gerbig, flashy halfback on last year's eleven, is in charge of the backs; Jack Winn, a star end in '19 to help the wingmen, and Al Wittmer in charge of the pivot men.

He has Captain Stout, a veteran of two years and captain of the hockey team as well, at one end, with Tillson, a fast end who has won his letter in football for the past two years, holding down the other wing position. Gates, big and aggressive, a sub last season, rest, out with injuries last year, completes the center trio. There is plenty of competition for the backfield berths with Caldwell, Slagle, Weeks, and Gibson getting the call.

Shift Caldwell Again

Caldwell was a great defensive back on the 1922 championship team but was shifted to center last year. Roper has him back at his old place this year where he is still exhibiting deadly tackling combined with an uncanny habit of catching forward passes. Slagle was captain of the 1923 yearling team and would be an asset on any team. He is the best punter and passer on the squad and in addition can drop-kick and carry the ball in a highly satisfactory manner. Weeks is another sophomore who has shown up well—he is exceptionally fast and a heady runner. Gibson was a sub last year and in addition to a highly educated toe rivals Caldwell for the honors as a defensive back.

Second Stringers Strong

The subs are plentiful and for the most part experienced. Drews, who played end last year, is back and in, and Shackelford, a converted halfback, are second choice wingmen. Beattie, who played in the backfield for two years, has been shifted to the line and has been filling in at tackle. Baldwin and Meislahn, up from last year's freshmen aggregation, are the other subs at tackle. Cragg, letterman last year, Davis and England, can step into guard position without apparently weakening the regular lineup. McMillan and Bartlett are both giving Forrest a glorious scrap for his berth at center.

Williams, who nearly made history last year when he just missed getting away for a touchdown in the Harvard game, will probably alternate with Slagle in the backfield. With a broken field in front of him he metamorphoses himself into a cross between a hare and an eel and in addition is a punter of no mean ability. S. Legendre, brother of M. Legendre last year's backfield luminary, is another promising backfield sub. Goldstein, midget speed king, and Prendergast, a sophomore, are two more likely second-string men. Dignan is another hard running back who will also probably see service this fall.

ABOUT BASEBALL

By JOHN B. POSTER
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The soft pedal is being put on talk of reducing world series admission prices in 1925—talk which made its appearance simultaneously with the breaking of the Giant bribery scandal.

After another record breaking "gate" despite the scandal, some of the owners are beginning to say that after all the public "stood for" the scandals of 1919 and 1924, and that they will "stand for" again the high prices which make world series such juicy plums and put such heavy money temptation upon players of the high ranking teams.

During the playing of the 1924 world series, the talk about reduced prices gained considerable headway, especially among owners of the National league, which had been hit by the scandal. The American league owners were less positive of the moment that they favored such a reduction—for they were not facing the unpleasant situation that existed in the other league.

But now—well, the next series is a year away, and a lot can be forgotten in a year. As the winter wears on and the next playing season approaches, the saner counsel of those who are beginning to experience a change of thought may be forgotten. There are men in baseball who are absolutely indifferent to public opinion because they have made themselves believe that baseball is a necessity to the country, like bread. These individuals are blind to everything except money—a quality which runs through all professional sports in America.

If prices were reduced, they would still be high enough to produce a splendid "gate" and the reward would be worthy of the athlete. There is no reason why a ball player's services to the nation should be considered double or triple the value of the services of the country's artists and professional men. There is no desire to bring the ball player in to a state of penury, but just the same, there is no reason why he should be rewarded above other mortals who are doing their share to make this world excellent ground for news gatherers.

But so strongly is the world series atmosphere impregnated with "big money" now that even the umpires have threatened a strike unless they get their fingers deeper into the 1925 dividend.

One thing the 1924 world series proved was that tickets for a world series game can be sold the day before the game, and the day of the game if necessary. They did it at Washington. This leaves some room for speculation, but perhaps not half as much as when the tickets are distributed several days in advance of the game as is the usual custom. If an open public sale became the rule, there could no longer be hurried charges of manipulation of tickets by those who had access to them.

GRID STAR DIES

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 16.—Gordon McMillan, West Virginia university football star, died early today of pneumonia. He was a son of G. W. McMillan of Minneapolis.

Gilligan, a scrappy line plunger, may break into the first lineup before the close of the season.

The schedule this fall is extra stiff. On October 18, the Orange and Black will act as hosts to the Navy and a week later will tackle Notre Dame. The following week Swarthmore appears on the schedule and then come the two big games. On November 8 Princeton will journey to Cambridge to meet Harvard and on November 15 Yale invades the Palmer stadium. The Harvard game is the only one on the schedule to be played away from home.

ANGELS LOSE AND INDIANS GET TWO

Ed Bryan Turns Back Marty Krug's Men as Portland Drops Double Bill

By THREE STRIKES

For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—While Ed Bryan was clipping the wings of the Angels, Jimmy McDowell was on the firing line, bringing down the hopes of the Seraphs in their phenomenal race for the pennant. That tells the story of yesterday's game between the Tigers and Los Angeles, the first game of the last series of the season, and a 4 to 2 victory for Essick. And, up north, in Portland, Seattle was increasing its lead over the Beavers, leaving Los Angeles two full games from the top of the ladder. The Seals and Oakland were idle on account of rain.

Jimmy McDowell, Tiger first baseman, who has shown little ability with the stick for the past month, was the big Bertha on the Bengal offensive, and an outstanding star in checking Angel rallies. Twice Jimmy sent the ball far over the left field fence for home runs, being directly responsible for three of the Angels' tallies. McDowell tagged the rubber for the other score after he singled, advanced to second on a sacrifice and scored on Warner's safe hit. It was McDowell's spectacular fielding that nipped two threatening rallies.

Outpitched Payne

Ed Bryan outpitched Payne in all except the first inning, when the Angels annexed their two runs. Bryan had too much stuff on the ball. All the Seraphs could do was pop up or ground out. But the Krugmen and Angel supporters find consolation in the fact Bryan is the only real twirler the Tigers have, and are confident they will turn in nothing but victories in the remainder of the six games.

Los Angeles is still in the running, but most hopes went soaring yesterday. If Portland could be depended upon to play ball against Seattle the Angels' chances would be greatly increased. A good cloudburst or flood in Portland would help some.

Last inning rallies cost Portland a couple of games in favor of Seattle yesterday, 7 to 6 and 10 to 6. In the first contest the Indians scored four runs in the ninth, and in the twilight put over 6 in the eighth.

Salt Lake fell before the Solons by a score of 11 to 7.

FOR GAME'S SAKE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 16.—The tonic effect of the scoreless tie to which Ohio State held the University of Iowa eleven at Iowa City last Saturday, has been quite apparent at the Ohio stadium in the past two days. It has given the coaches and the players of the rather green buckeye team, a certain sanction that was greatly needed. In fact, the prevailing feeling throughout the university is that the tie contest, against practically the same team that defeated the Buckeyes last year 20-0, was a mighty fine game to have turned in.

From end to end, the Hawkeyes averaged 205 pounds and the backfield about 180. Opposed to these behemoths, Ohio pitted a set of forwards whose 188 pound average was materially reduced when Watts, a 145 pound center, went in to relieve Captain Young.

But with Young temporarily on the side lines with damaged ribs, back in the pivot job, the line is the heaviest that Dr. Wilce has coached since 1919 and he feels very good about that.

It is now certain that Ohio will be a vastly superior outfit to the combinations of the past two years, but against this must be balanced the fact that every team she will be called upon to meet as the season progresses is either as strong or much stronger than in 1923.

Ohio, in particular, looks forward to the Chicago game two weeks hence, as promising a grueling struggle, while Illinois and Michigan, which are to be met later, size up right now as the two strongest teams in the Western Conference.

If the Buckeyes should come through their schedule with a clean slate, it will have been an extraordinary achievement and one that only the most unreasoning enthusiast can demand or expect. Those close to the eleven are making no definite promises, but are working none the less with the highest ends in view. Time alone will show.

Some handicaps which the writer noticed in the course of Monday's practice are the necessity for calling a tackle back to do the punting and also the occasional use of a lifeman to throw forward passes. All of which suggests the lack of a real triple threat star in the backfield.

On the other hand, a young man named Karow, is a ball carrier of the approved sort and as time goes on it will be shown what success has crowned the efforts of Dr. Wilce and his assistants to construct a backfield combination that combines both with ability and elusiveness. That the backfield must be made heavier is a recognized fact.

One thing Ohio has got that she has not had since Noel Workman, and that is a lightning tactician at quarterback. Jake Cameron is the name of this find—a senior and Dr. Wilce is enamored of the strategic instincts of this gifted find general. Ohio will show fire works in good time.

WHITE SOX PLAY VENTURA CHAMPS

Winners of Elks' Title to Play Here Next Sunday; Have Strong Team

Sunday will see one of the most thrilling games ever staged at the White Sox park on San Fernando road, when "Chicken" Hawks leads his pale hose crew against the B. P. O. Elks champions of Ventura, under the tutelage of Fred Fairbanks. In the Ventura lineup will be "Micky" O'Brien, Charley Gorman, "Reacher" Butts and other well known league stars, with Fairbanks in the box.

"Micky" O'Brien is well known to Glendale fans, as he played with the White Sox last winter. This summer he has been catching for Philadelphia. Tellez will probably do the catching for the White Sox. There is a possibility that Sid Pfahler, who played with the Catalina Cubs, may join the team and do the receiving.

"Ping" Bodie, who joined the White Sox after finishing the season with the Des Moines Western club, announced today that he is to set a record for hits and home runs in the White Sox park. Ping Bodie, who played with Vernon, Chicago and Minneapolis, will be in the lineup. French has decided to sell real estate during the winter months. Dick Bonelly of the Kansas City Blues will pitch for the home team.

Just now with the advantage of a grueling contest behind it in which every player acquitted himself beyond expectations. That means spirit for one thing. And don't under-estimate what a highly tempered spirit will do when it animates a set of young stalwarts whose manual ability is better than the average.

FROM the Toll House to the end of the trail in Ice House Canyon in 16 minutes 50 3-5 seconds! Conquering grades as great as 23 1-2% and climbing 4315 feet in 7 1-10 miles, Mount Baldy has been driven in high gear for the first time in history and a new speed record established for any gear!

Richfield gasoline and Richlube motor oil furnished the tremendous power and perfect lubrication necessary to accomplish this feat when Tuesday morning, October 7th, an absolutely stock Essex Six driven by Norman Etges, a non-professional driver, made this wonderful record. The Essex, sealed in high gear with the gear shift lever removed, carried as official observer J. W. Howe, automobile editor of the Los Angeles Examiner and was accurately checked and timed throughout by the automobile editors of the Los Angeles Times, Herald and Express.

"I chose Richfield gasoline and Richlube motor oil for the perfect combination of tremendous power and dependable lubrication for which they are famous with every automobile driver."

Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital

Special Correspondence

Professor Ernest Clifton of Long Beach gave a piano recital in the Glendale Sanitarium last Tuesday night. He was assisted by Mrs. Reta King-Nelson and Mrs. Nellie Ochs, vocalists. The program was as follows: Sonata Pathetique (Beethoven), "The Rosary" (Nevin), "Art Thou Weary?" vocal (Scott), Overture to Zampa (Grove), "Friend of Mine" (Sanderson), "The Storm" (Weber), "O Wert Thou in the Cold Blast," vocal (Mendelssohn), Poet and Peasant Overture (Suppe).

The program was greatly appreciated by those present and it is hoped that Professor Clifton, Mrs. Nelson, and Mrs. Ochs will furnish such a treat again. Professor Clifton has recently moved to Glendale from Long Beach and is opening a studio at 222 1/2 North Brand.

Dr. A. W. Truman, who has been attending the Medical Council held in Des Moines, Iowa, October 11-14, writes that they had a very worthwhile assembly and that there were doctors in attendance from all parts of the world.

NEW YORK CLOSING

For International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Dull and irregular trading characterized the stock market today. Industrial stocks, after maintaining their price levels for the first three hours, were swept downward in another wave of short selling and profit taking. Oil stocks, which had been the leaders in the early advance in prices, also yielded most of the day's gains.

A decided improvement in the outlook for the petroleum industry was reflected in a better demand for oil stocks. Leaders in this group were the rally which was in progress at the close of Wednesday's market. But there was not sufficient speculative enthusiasm in the oils to sustain a bull movement in the whole market, particularly as many traders were ready to take profits on stocks bought at the bottom of Tuesday's sharp decline.

A few of the rallies and industrial rallies joined with the upward price movement in the early trading. American Water Works pushed forward to 111 3/4 for a gain of nearly 4 points; American Hide and Leather preferred advanced 2 1/2 points to 64 1/2 on reports that the directors of the company had preferred the accumulated dividends on the issue. Goodyear Tires made a gain of 2 points; U. S. Steel sold above 106; Frisco common, New Haven and New York Central led the rallies into slightly higher prices.

In the absence of any outstanding industrial developments affecting the market, outside trading showed little interest in the movements of prices and were not inclined to take a position on either side of the market. Political uncertainties continue to be the principal handicap to the resumption of the forward movement in prices, according to Wall Street leaders, and little is expected of general participation in stocks until after the November election.

L. A. EXCHANGE

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—Mining issues showed the only activity during the morning session at the Los Angeles stock exchange. All other lists were unusually quiet. The run continued on Oatman United and, gaining a point during the trading, a new high of 17c was set, the closing price, 15,000 shares. U. S. and American was active but steady.

Julian preferred saw little life, opening at $12.75 and closing at $13, while there was no activity in common.

Three hundred Los Angeles Investment sold at $3.75.

In the bonds, Pacific Gas and Electric 6s and Edison 6s were the only issues sold in large numbers.

WE TOLD YOU SO!

Of course you have heard others say that more than once in your lifetime. In fact, some people make a habit of it in order to exhibit their "fortune-telling" powers. BUT, in this case, we are perfectly justified in saying, and repeating, WE TOLD YOU SO!

"And WHAT did you tell us?"

We TOLD YOU that the FIRST ALLOTMENT of LOTS in the FRAZIER MOUNTAIN PARK would be snapped up in short order. And they have been.

Too bad you delayed a couple of days too long! But, that's how it goes. You remember the old adage, "HE THAT HESITATES IS LOST" or "THERE'S NO TIME LIKE THE PRESENT." Opportunity sometimes knocks all right, but she doesn't stay to kick the door in.

You see it is like this: We happen to be VERY FAVORABLY SITUATED, friends, by having for sale one of the choicest little spots in all this wide, wide world. And that is why we are so sure of our step, and why you can bank on anything we say or promise.

WE TOLD YOU THAT THESE LOTS WERE TOO GOOD TO LAST AT ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS! Of course you may have thought that the price was so ridiculously low that they couldn't be "up-to-much" anyway. Something like the bet a jeweler made once that he would place a one thousand dollar diamond among a bunch of trash in his window and mark it up for "five dollars," saying that it was worth "a thousand." He did so for a week, but no one bought the diamond, so he won his bet. People thought it sounded "too good to be true."

THESE LOTS WERE THE BARGAIN OF THE YEAR, FELLOW CITIZENS!

And we TOLD YOU SO!

Now let us say something else that is WORTH LISTENING to!

THE SECOND ALLOTMENT of these CABIN SITES are MARVELOUS BARGAINS, and when we say MARVELOUS, we mean it. They are ONE HUNDRED and TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS apiece, and we will give you your choice FREE of any of them, if you can show us a better buy IN ALL CALIFORNIA.

We say again, we offer them to you, NOW, not necessarily next week, for $125.00, and if you will be advised by us you will act on the word "NOW" and not wait to hear us say again WE TOLD YOU SO! A citizen of Glendale "Who knows a thing when he sees it," said on Sunday, when he bought one of these lots, "Mr. Twining, these sites are worth $500.00 RIGHT NOW if they are worth a penny." And he knows, and knows that he knows.

Now let us tell you a little about this property, but we would sooner you came into our office at 108 West Broadway, Glendale, and arrange to go up on Sunday and SEE FOR YOURSELF:—

"They are situated in FRAZIER MOUNTAIN PARK, which is accessible by fine roads and easy grades. They are away up amid 'God's own beautiful fresh air,' some several thousand feet above sea level. There is everything that the heart longs for in 'the great outdoors.' Fishing, bathing, boating, you know—the very thought makes one feel healthier and stronger. Away up where nature 'lives untouched' and calls you back to be 'made anew.'"

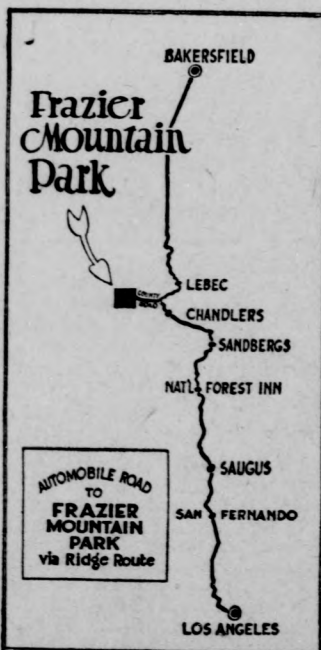

We are building dams, and making roads and trails just as quickly as men and tools can do the job. Honestly, our crews are working seven days of the week. And, they are hitting the ball, for WHEN WE SAY WE ARE GOING to do anything, WE ARE DOING IT ALREADY.

We tell you without fear or optimism, THAT THE FRAZIER MOUNTAIN PARK will be the talk of the country before we are through, BECAUSE IT IS A "LITTLE BIT OF HEAVEN FALLEN FROM THE SKY," and you or your neighbors will bear witness to our claim some time or other, if not now, when the FRAZIER MOUNTAIN PARK ranks equally with the famous GLACIER and YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARKS. Remember what we say, it will rank with the country's greatest and grandest—and we offer you the OPPORTUNITY OF YOUR LIFE when we ARE WILLING TO SELL YOU ONE OF THESE LOTS FOR ONE HUNDRED and TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS. That's all!

We have said our say, made our little statement in clear, concise English; told you, given you the best advice—now it is up to you!

DO THIS!

If it is the last thing you ever do in your bid for wealth and happiness, COME INTO OUR OFFICE NOW, and MAKE ARRANGEMENTS TO TAKE THE BEAUTIFUL DRIVE NEXT SUNDAY UP TO THE PARK. IT WON'T COST YOU A CENT, IT WILL DO YOU THE WORLD OF GOOD, YOU WILL ENJOY THE TRIP, AND YOU WILL SEE FOR YOURSELF THAT WHAT WE SAY IS TRUE, EVERY WORD OF IT.

Follow Directions—
It Is Easy To Get There

Drive out through San Fernando, Newhall and Saugus to the famous Ridge Route, north of Chanderberg one-half mile—less than 80 miles from Glendale or Hollywood—turn west three and one-half miles over a smooth county gravel road; follow the arrows and you are in Frazier Mountain Park

SUNDAY DANCING DIVIDES COUNCIL

City Officials Are Unable to Agree and Ordinance Is Declared Tabled

After amending the proposed dance hall ordinance to permit Sunday dancing, the City Council this morning voted to lay the ordinance on the table.

Mayor Spencer Robinson voted with Councilmen S. A. Davis and C. E. Kimlin to introduce the amendment. Councilmen Asa Hall and S. S. Gilhuly bitterly opposed the change, contending that Sunday dancing in Glendale should be banned.

"I think it would be a dirty outrage to have dance halls and churches open on the same day," declared Councilman Gilhuly, and Councilman Hall cried out "ditto."

Not in "Moral Tone"

"I believe in letting the people do what they choose," Councilman Kimlin argued in defense of his stand. Mayor Robinson and Councilman Davis contended that "dinner dances" on Sunday were all right, but agreed with the opposition that regular admission dances on Sunday would not be in keeping with the moral tone of the city.

A number of other proposed ordinances came up for adoption, among them two ordinances regulating sanitary and food conditions in Glendale. They were all referred to the committee of the whole. The scheduled hearing on the proposed ordinance regulating barber shops did not take place.

Regulating Tent Shows

Councilman Hall offered an ordinance regulating tent shows and other traveling amusements. He also offered an ordinance providing for the issuance of the $60,000 fire department bonds approved by local voters at the recent election.

Resolutions were adopted approving the purchase from the Southern California Edison Co. for $17,893.52, of certain plant and equipment in the recently annexed Vine street district, and authorizing Mayor Robinson to sign a contract with the officials of the company for the purchase of the same.

Routine Business

A resolution was adopted approving a plat of the district to be assessed for the widening of San Fernando Road from the north to the south city limits, and an ordinance of intention to widen this road was introduced. Resolutions were adopted approving the diagrams of Viola and Stocker streets and of Forest avenue. A resolution was adopted abandoning proceedings for the opening and widening of Chestnut street and a hearing on the abandonment proceedings for this street was set for November 20.

The council accepted the recommendation of the City Planning commission that Burchett street be opened from Brand boulevard east to Monterey Road and ordered the city attorney to draft the necessary proceedings. October 23 was set as the date for the hearing on the petition to improve Raleigh street, opposite the old city reservoir. The petition for a commercial district on Glendale street, just off Pacific avenue, was referred to the City Planning commission for October 27 and to the City Council for October 30.

Continue Hearing

The continued hearing on appeals from the assessment for the improvement of the alley running along the Harvard high school property, between Harvard street and Colorado street, was again continued, being set for October 23. Irving H. Oliver, business manager of the Glendale Union high school, who was present and explained the position of his board of trustees, declared that he would make an effort to agree to put this assessment of approximately $2,000 on next year's budget.

A hearing on the improvement of Watson street was likewise set for October 23.

Protests Denied

All protests were denied against assessments for the improvement of Acacia avenue, Columbus avenue, Garfield avenue and Raymond avenue. All protests were denied against the issuance of bonds for the improvement of Cleveland road. Proceedings were abandoned for the improvement of Cypress street and new proceedings instituted, calling for 3-inch macadam to be laid along this street.

The recommendation of the Park board that Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson be appointed to fill the place of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, resigned, was referred to the committee of the whole. The report of the Glendale Realty board on the prizes won by this city at the recent state convention in Pasadena, was accepted and Virgil B. Stone, city manager, was instructed to write expressing the gratification of the City Council in this achievement.

The Joy of Vigorous Womanhood

IT'S great to sense the thrill of delight which comes of the conscious possession of a strong, robust physique.

The girl or young woman who cannot enter into the spirit or actual enjoyment of sportful games because of a frail constitution is missing half of what life holds for her. Besides, she will always be denied her rightful place in the sphere of womanhood while her bodily vigor remains below par.

Therefore, every woman should know the value of FORCE, the tonic that gives strength to tired and exhausted brains and bodies, rebuilds worn-out tissues, replenishes the blood with rich, red corpuscles, increases the appetite and aids the digestion. Get a bottle of FORCE today (all druggists have it) and know the joy of strength and health.
